National Bank - Women in Financial Markets - Employment Opportunity, Mentorship & Financial Reward Online – open until April 30th, 2018

This initiative encourages skilled and talented women who are interested in a career in financial markets to continue their pursuit of either an undergraduate or post graduate degree in Finance, Business, Commerce, Economics, Risk Management or Financial Engineering, while providing them with the opportunity to get acquainted with our organization. As women are completing their education, we offer the opportunity to put their in class learnings to use and gain valuable on the job work experience. Having a mentor and becoming acquainted with our organization helps to provide women some insight on the skills needed to be successful in this fast paced industry.

Up to 7 successful candidates will each be granted an employment opportunity (either an internship or full-time employment) in our Corporate & Investment Banking or Sales & Trading areas depending on their skillset and area of interest. In addition to the employment opportunity, a $5,000 bonus will be awarded to the successful recipient(s). The selected candidate(s) will be paired with a mentor from our Financial Markets group, ensuring a link between the recipient and National Bank throughout their studies.

Target: Open to female undergraduates, graduate students, PhDs and Alumni from all Programs and Faculties who are looking to pursue a career in financial services

Instructions: Candidates will have until 11:59 pm on April 30, 2018 to apply to job number FIN008DR on our career site at <http://www.nbc.ca>
