HOW? ONLINE

Step 1) Log into your Student Centre

Step 2) Intent to Register is listed under Academics

Step 3) Click on ITR Planning Guide to complete the ITR process

Step 4) Within the ITR planning guide, under the heading ‘Returning in September 2015’ click HERE to access the online ITR service

You can access the system as many times as you’d like to make changes until March 31st. Only your most recent submission will be used in May.
Who needs to do Paper ITR with the Academic Counsellor?

• New Concurrent Degree Students - students wishing to enroll in two degrees at once i.e. Kinesiology & Nursing

• Continue in Common 1st Year – i.e. if you were part-time this year and not eligible to move into year 2

• 2nd degree students

• Year 1 Scholar’s Elective Students
Which Program to Choose?

- Kinesiology must be your first choice program
- Think about the courses you liked and were successful in this year and then research programs related to those courses.
- When researching the program (via the Academic Calendar) you are checking to see if:
  1. You would be interested in the courses throughout that module
  2. You have the required first year courses.
  3. You meet progression (average) requirements for that program.

- For Kinesiology programs, you can also research using the program planning guides online.
Additional Modules

- If you are interested in focusing your elective courses throughout your degree on a 2nd subject area, then you can select to add an additional Major or Minor to your 1st choice on your ITR.

- It is not mandatory to select an additional major or minor.

- Additional modules do no impact admissions into professional programs.

- Adding an additional Major module to an Honors Specialization will require careful planning to allow you to complete the modules in 4 years.

- An additional module can be removed from your program if you decide in future years you no longer wish to complete it.
Additional Modules

- Open Only to Faculty of Health Sciences Students

- Major/Minor in Rehabilitation Sciences – there are 30 spaces each year. The cut off average in 2014 was 75.4%

- Minor in Foods & Nutrition – there are 5 spaces each year. The cut off average in 2014 was 70%
Second Choice = Back-Up Plan

• Your 2nd choice has to be outside of Kinesiology.

• Ask yourself, ‘if I couldn’t study my 1st choice what would I like to study?’

• Make sure you have the 1st year required courses by checking the academic calendar.

• If you don’t have the required 1st year courses for your back-up plan, you may want to consider another program or choose “Undeclared” in a Faculty outside of Health Science.
What Is Undeclared?

• A student that has selected first year elective courses that do not lead to any other program options

  OR

• A student who does not like the program options their electives lead to

• By being “undeclared” in a Faculty, it means that the student would not have specific program requirements to follow. Therefore, as an undeclared student they would be working on getting some required courses and improving their average for a program for the next year

Being undeclared for a year while working towards getting back into Kin is fine. However, it is important that you select courses that will also build towards a back-up program in case you are not eligible to return to Kin.
Recap

• Kinesiology must be your first choice
• You only need to list Kinesiology once
• Review the requirements for other module combinations i.e. Majors/Minors to ensure you meet the requirements
• Your second choice = your back up plan.
  • Must be outside of Kinesiology
  • Must have required first year courses
