The course explores social media uses in health to address methodological, conceptual, ethical and design issues pertinent to these emergent technologies.

It is expected that you will come to class prepared (i.e., completed the assigned readings on time) and that you will attend and actively participate in class. There is no required textbook for this course; instead, you will read from a variety of sources (e.g., traditional journal articles/book chapters, news articles, as well as social media sources such as blogs, podcasts, etc. available on OWL course site).

Course Objectives:

- Define and describe social media and its use in a health context

- Become active and aware consumers of social media and health information

Other Important Stuff

Student Code of Conduct

The purpose of the Code of Student Conduct is to define the general standard of conduct expected of students registered at The University of Western Ontario, provide examples of behaviour that constitutes a breach of this standard of conduct, provide examples of sanctions that may be imposed, and set out the disciplinary procedures that the University will follow. For more information, visit http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/board/code.pdf.

Prerequisites

Unless you have either the requisites for this course or written special permission from your Dean to enroll in it, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. This decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites.

Academic accommodation

Students in the School of Health Studies seeking academic accommodation are required to meet with an academic counsellor during drop-in hours. The University recognizes that a student’s ability to meet his/her academic responsibilities may, on occasion, be impaired by medical illness. Illness may be acute (short term), or it may be chronic (long term), or chronic with acute episodes. The University further recognizes that medical situations are deeply personal and respects the need for privacy and confidentiality in these matters. However, in order to ensure fairness and consistency for all students, academic accommodation for work representing 10% or more of the student’s overall grade in the course shall be granted only in those cases where there is documentation indicating that the student was seriously affected by illness and could not reasonably be expected to meet his/her academic responsibilities.
A UWO Student Medical Certificate (SMC) is required where a student is seeking academic accommodation. This documentation should be obtained at the time of the initial consultation with the physician or walk-in clinic. An SMC can be downloaded under the Medical Documentation heading of the following website: http://www.uwo.ca/fhs/shs/students/files/acad_accomm.pdf

Whenever possible, students who require academic accommodation should provide notification and documentation in advance of due dates, examinations, etc. Students must follow up with their professors and their Academic Counselling office in a timely manner. Documentation for any request for accommodation shall be submitted, as soon as possible, to the appropriate Academic Counselling Office of the student’s Faculty of registration. For BHSc students, you may go to the School of Health Studies Office in HSB room 222.

Late Assignments

Late assignments will be docked by 5% for the first day past the due date, 10% for the second, and 15% the third day, after which the assignment will not be accepted.

Electronic devices

Students are not permitted to use cellphones during lectures or presentations, as they are distracting to me and your fellow classmates. Computers are allowed for note-taking purposes during class time. Absolutely no devices are permitted during exams.

Academic Offences

Scholastic offences are taken seriously. The definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence is found at the following Web site: http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf. All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com (http://www.turnitin.com).

Plagiarism

Student work is expected to be original. Plagiarism is defined as “the act of appropriating the literary composition of another, or parts or passages of his writings, or the ideas or language of the same, and passing them off as the product of one’s own mind.” (Black, 1979, p. 1035). You are plagiarizing if you insert a phrase, sentence, or paragraph taken from another author without acknowledging him/her. Similarly, you are plagiarizing if you paraphrase or summarize another author’s ideas (perhaps from a reputable website) without acknowledging they belong to someone else. Plagiarism is considered a serious academic offense and can result in student expulsion. If you have questions about this, a librarian can help you, or the resources located at the Teaching Learning Centre may be helpful to review (http://www.uwo.ca/tsc/resources/selected_teaching_topics/academic_integrity/index.html)
