

Honorary Degrees – Principles and Criteria for Selecting Honorary Degree Recipients

1. General Principles

The awarding of an honorary degree is an important symbol in the life of the University. An honorary degree recognizes exceptionally meritorious accomplishments, activity, and positive impact both in the academic arena and in broader areas of benefit to society, that reflect the values esteemed by a great university. Honorary degrees are conferred on those whose achievements are of such excellence that they inspire exemplary leadership to the graduates of the University.

In choosing recipients for this honour the University is also guided by the principle that in honouring individuals for their contributions, the University is also honouring itself by its association with people of such special merit.

2. Criteria for Selection

The following specific criteria are used by the Honorary Degrees Committee in its consideration of candidates. The Committee's goal each year is to present a slate of recipients across a range of academic disciplines and non-academic areas of achievement. Honorary degree recipients, when possible, will be chosen to match the purposes of the Convocation at which the degree is to be granted.

- a. Through the selection of an Honorary Degree recipient, Western is making public our institutional values. Consideration should be given to the alignment of a nominee's accomplishments, activity and impact with the goals and aspirations included in Western's strategic plan.
- b. Recognition will be given to those whose exceptional accomplishments have contributed to enhancing culture and society in Canada or elsewhere in the world.
- c. The University normally will give preference to honouring individuals who have made outstanding contributions in fields and professions in which the University itself is active.
- d. The University on occasion will honour those who have made extraordinary contributions to the development of the University or the region or have achieved international standards of excellence in their endeavours.
- e. Nominations should support the breadth of the university's academic community in the diversity of indigeneity, race, gender identity/expression, ability, sexual orientation, religion and all equity-deserving groups.
- f. Nominations should represent a local, national and international field of candidates.
- g. Based on an earlier tradition in the University, an honorary degree (jure dignitatis) will usually be conferred upon the Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Ontario [who is the Official Visitor of the University].

3. Exclusions

- c. Normally, active politicians will not be awarded an honorary degree. In such a case, criteria in section 2 shall apply.

Principles and Criteria for Selecting Honorary Degree Recipients

- b. Maintenance of Lists: The initial screening of the nomination will be made by the University Secretariat to ensure that the nomination adheres to these guidelines. Names will be added to the list for a period of three years from the date of nomination, at which time, if the nominee has not been selected, the name will be deleted. If the person is renominated, and if the nomination is still valid according to these guidelines, the name will again be added to the list for an additional three-year period.
- c. From the active list of nominations, the Honorary Degrees Committee will select prospective degree recipients (who are diverse) as required in the annual convocation cycles. Once a prospective degree recipient has been identified and agreed upon by the Committee, the President's Office will execute due diligence, based on publicly available information, to ensure that the nomination conforms fully to the selection principles and criteria. In addition, the President's Office will work to match nominees to an appropriate ceremony within the boundaries of scheduling.
- d. Nominators will be invited to participate in the conferral of the degree as hooders, presenters or hosts, where and when possible, on the basis of their relevant relationship to the field of accomplishment of the nominee.
