Procedures for Adjunct Academic Appointments of Faculty at The University of Western Ontario - Revisions (S.09-05)

At the last Senate meeting a question was raised about the inclusion of the phrase “and authorized by the designated University representative” in the revised Procedures for Adjunct Academic Appointments of Faculty at The University of Western Ontario. Dr. Ross noted that this is not a new requirement. The amendment simply makes clear what has always been required under The UWO Act and the Board’s delegation of authority.

S.09-23 REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

The President’s report consisted of the following items: United Way Campaign Wrap-up, Student 2 Business Program, Black History Month Celebration, Premier’s Visit to Robarts and Graduate Allocation. Dr. Davenport noted that the funding associated with graduate enrolment will be spread over three years, from 2009-2010 to 2011-12; consequently the impact on the 2009 - 2010 revenues is as yet unknown. Overhead slides used to highlight his presentation are attached as Appendix 1.

The Chair agreed to forward to the SUTA for consideration the suggestion that the nomination/dossier be put on a CD rather than in a binder as an environmentally conscious move.

Robert W. Hodder Chair in Economic Geology

It was moved by C. Dunbar, seconded by S. Macfie,

That Senate approve and recommend to the Board of Governors, that the Robert W. Hodder Chair in Economic Geology be created in the Faculty of Science.
Robert W. Hodder Chair in Economic Geology

Donor and Funding: The creation of this Chair is made possible through a generous donation from Dr. Keith Barron (PhD Geology 1997).

The donor will make an expendable gift of $800,000 over four years with the first payment being made on or before December 31, 2009 and the final payment being made on or before December 31, 2012.

Effective Date: July 1, 2010

Purpose: The Robert W. Hodder Chair in Economic Geology is a key component of the Faculty of Science’s Initiative to Enhance Energy Resources and Economic Geology.

Led by the Department of Earth Sciences, the Initiative to Enhance Energy Resources and Economic Geology is intended to provide the Department with the people, the courses, and the partnerships required to enhance current undergraduate programs in the Department and to further relevant basic and applied research in the field.

The expenditure of funding to support the Robert W. Hodder Chair in Economic Geology will be the responsibility of the Chair of the Department of Earth Sciences, in consultation with the Dean of the Faculty of Science.

This naming is enthusiastically supported by the Dean of the Faculty of Science and by the Chair of the Department of Earth Sciences.

Criteria: Appointments to the Chair will be conducted in accordance with the relevant policies and procedures of the University. The appointment will be for a period five years.

Reporting: The University will provide Dr. Barron, or others as instructed, with annual reports, on or before June 1 each year, regarding the use of the gift and financial status of the gift. The annual report will also include a report regarding the teaching, research and administrative activities of the Robert W. Hodder Chair in Economic Geology.

Dr. Carroll noted that Western is increasingly putting more emphasis on sustainability and green initiatives. He asked whether the donor’s views on these issues had been explored prior to accepting the donation. He reported that he had found an essay on avoiding legacy issues in mining exploration, written in 2005 by the donor that might call these views into question.

Dr. Stirling pointed out that this was a term-funded, expendable Chair that the donor had proposed be named after his mentor, Dr. Robert Hodder, a distinguished emeritus faculty member. This spoke more to the character of the donor than a single article written several years ago. He remarked that mining is a legal, government regulated enterprise of great importance to the Canadian economy and that an article which suggested that exploration be conducted in unpopulated areas had more to do with prudent business practice than with attitudes toward environmental issues.

Dr. Longstaffe remarked that the Department of Earth Sciences conducts research on both the science and applied science behind the search for and use of natural resources. The kind of individual scrutiny of donors’ views suggested by Dr. Carroll would result in an endless list of issues to be canvassed. Dr. Wardlaw added that the donor was fully aware that donors have no role to play in either the selection of incumbents for named chairs or the activities in which they choose to engage. This particular donation had been reviewed and discussed in depth within the Faculty and with the Office of the Vice-President (External). In closing, he noted that Dr. Hodder, after whom the Chair would be named, would not have permitted his name to be associated with the project if there were any issues regarding the donation.

Preliminary Recommendations on Faculty Budgets for 2009-2010

Dr. Longstaffe gave a presentation on the Preliminary Recommendations on Faculty Budgets for 2009-2010, detailed in Exhibit III, Appendix 1, including a summary of the context/background, budget recommendations for faculties and support units and tuition fee recommendations. Overhead slides used to highlight his presentation are attached as Appendix 2.

The following points were noted in the discussion and in response to questions:

- In relative terms, compared to the previous four-year planning period, the available resources for this four-year planning period are substantially lower.

- In addition to the standard 3% initial budget adjustment an additional 2.5% base budget reduction is required in each of the next two years.

- Maintaining academic quality and continuing with the graduate expansion are two keystones in determining budget reductions which will be applied differentially.

- A Board resolution in 1984 set a target for a minimum operating reserve of 1% of operating revenues. Since 1999-2000 the operating reserve target has been set at $2.5 million. As long as the operating reserve target is respected, the University can budget for deficits. When funds are taken out of the reserve, the University incurs a deficit because it is spending more money than generated from the current revenues. Last year the beginning operating reserve was $20 million; it ended up at $10 million which means the University ran a deficit of $10 million last year which the Board approved. There is no Board prohibition about calling on revenues accumulated and spending them in a particular year. (Appendix 3)

- The administration will submit a budget for the year 2009-2010 that will have a target of at least $2.5 million in the operating reserve. The administration believes that the financial situation is not a one-year problem. Costs are growing faster than revenues, which has nothing to do with stock markets or endowments. Without the stock market downturn, the administration had predicted a disjuncture between revenues and costs after the completion of the current four-year budget cycle. The loss of revenue from investments had brought the problem home two years sooner than anticipated.

- Base budget reductions will be applied differentially. In developing the Faculty budget recommendations, graduate expansion remains a high priority and the commitment made towards providing the additional funding for Masters and PhD students will be kept.

- Staff are absolutely critical for the University to deliver services to faculty and students. Nonetheless, with the largest portion of operating dollars going to salaries, vacant positions will not be filled and some redundancies will occur. Every position filled will be done so on a mission critical basis - deans and support unit heads must demonstrate why they need to fill a position, why it is mission critical and how will it be paid for in their budgets.

- The crisis in the markets will have an impact on the decision of senior faculty to retire or not. This in turn will affect Faculty budgets that were predicated on the assumption that a certain number of senior faculty would retire, freeing up funding to hire at a more junior level.

- The $2.5 million in the operating reserve should be used to provide enriched retirement incentives for faculty and staff, which in the long term, would be more effective. Dr. Longstaffe said that the number of faculty and staff taking the retirement offers will not be known until the end of March. This information will be made available when known.

- The reduction in faculty and staff complement will have a significant impact on the quality of education.
Dean Pennee thanked the administration for providing such detailed information about the budget situation. She had a number of questions and concerns:

- The way in which weighted teaching units are used disadvantages some areas, such as language teaching and studio arts programs, which require certain levels of faculty/student ratios in order to meet internationally-recognized pedagogical standards. Our budget model does not fully take this into account.

- Carryforwards are an easy target. It is important to consider the history of how and why dollars are accumulated in a carryforward by a Faculty. In the Faculty of Arts and Humanities, the carry forward money resulted from a number of years of careful, frugal budgeting and was intended to protect the research intensivity of the Faculty; now the funds must be spent elsewhere.

- Not all Faculties use a large number of part-time Faculty to deliver their programs. Those that do not are at something of a disadvantage when trying to assess a budget cut. Has the University ever had a comprehensive discussion about the use of contractual limited appointments for the delivery of education?

- Funding is directly linked to enrolment growth, but enrolment has been capped and the amount allotted per student has not changed since the mid-1990s while the cost to deliver education continues to rise.

Dr. Longstaffe provided the following points in response:

- Understanding what the right balance is between full-time and part-time faculty is both pedagogically and financially important. It is also highly variable across disciplines. While it is true that some of the programs in Arts and Humanities are expensive to deliver, so are some in Social Sciences, for example, which has a weighted teaching unit per FTA funding 7% lower than Arts and Humanities.

- With respect to revenue generated from enrolment, just putting people in seats in order to generate revenue can work against the quality of education provided. Western has placed a focus on graduate expansion. The weighted teaching units for PhD graduate students are factored at 7 while the Masters students are at 3.5. From a philosophical and teaching point of view the best direction forward for the University of Western Ontario is to aim for a 3-1 ratio of undergraduates to graduates.

Addressing the various suggestions regarding the operating reserve and the Board’s policy, Dr. Davenport said that he believes the current reserve policy makes sense. Running a short term deficit for a year is not prudent given the uncertain economic climate and would put a greater burden on the community in subsequent years. The reserve is in place and drawn upon when the need arises so that long term obligations can be met.

Dr. Davenport announced that a town hall meeting to discuss the university budget would be held on March 3 in IR40 of the Richard Ivey School of Business from 3:00-4:30 p.m. Dr. Carroll suggested that the meeting be chaired by a neutral chair rather than by the President.

It was moved by S. Schaffer, seconded by A. Chant,

That it is the will of Senate that the town hall meeting be chaired by a neutral individual, and that Senate provide advice to the administration resulting from the town hall meeting.

The Vice-Chair of Senate assumed the Chair.

The Vice-Chair ruled the motion out of order because the topic was not included on the Agenda. What was before Senate was a report for information on preliminary budget recommendations for the Faculties, not the structure of a town hall meeting.
Dr. Carroll suggested that rather than having the Vice-Chair’s ruling appealed, the President could agree with the proposed format. Dr. Davenport said that he did not agree with the suggestion. The intent of the town hall was to keep administration’s presentations to a minimum and then allow open and free discussion from the community and as chair he was committed to that.

USC Presidential Campaign Litter

Mr. Sherar expressed concern about the amount of litter left around campus following the recent USC Presidential campaign. He asked if Western has a committee that deals with such matters. Ms. Kulczycki replied that she, along with Dr. Longstaffe, chair an ad hoc working group that deals with this issue and are working on a sustainability policy. The working group has broad representation including faculty, undergraduates, graduates, and staff and is considering ways to communicate/educate the Western community about this matter because education is key to the success of this initiative. The USC election protocols have regulations regarding the removal of signage which must be enforced.

Board Policy on Deficits

• A Board resolution of 1984 set a target for the minimum operating reserve of 1% of operating revenues.
• Since 1999-2000, the operating reserve target has been set at $2.5 million (e.g., see Table 15 of the 2008-09 Budget).
• As long as the operating reserve target is respected, the University can budget for deficits (e.g., again, see Table 15 of the 2008-09 Budget).

Administration’s Position on the Operating Reserve Target

• The Administration supports the policy of the $2.5 M reserve target, and will submit a Budget for 2009-10 consistent with that target.
• We believe, as does the EPI study On the Brink released this week, that Ontario universities are facing difficult times for at least the next four years.
• In particular, our operating revenues, which grew at an average rate of over 7% from 2001-02 to 2007-08, may grow at 3% or less from 2007-08 to 2013-14. Our trend rate of costs increases is well above the new trend in revenues, which will require adjustments in expenditures.
Administration’s Position on the Operating Reserve Target

• Given the uncertainty in our budgetary picture, now is not the time to be running “short-term deficits,” which are very likely to turn into long term deficits and impose difficult financial burdens in future years.
• Given our long-term obligations for capital debt, employee future benefits, and deferred maintenance (see pp. 97-103 of the 2008-09 Budget), the $2.5 M operating reserve target is an important element in maintaining the financial stability of Western
