VAH3383A
Introduction to Exhibition Design and Museum Management
Wednesdays 11:30-2:30 VAH247

Professor: Dr. Kirsty Robertson
Office: VAC 221
Office Hours: tbd
Email: kirsty.robertson@uwo.ca

Course Description and Objectives:

In this class, students will go “behind the scenes” at a traditional museum, learning about how the exhibitions seen by the public are made possible by a whole series of interlocking areas of expertise, among them collections management, conservation, fundraising, installation, social media/promotions, and graphic design. Students will also learn about the role of cultural policy in curating and running museums, and about how different kinds of exhibition spaces (museums, galleries, artist-run-centres, biennales, art fairs, commercial galleries etc.) determine curatorial content. Supplemented with case studies of successful and unsuccessful exhibitions, the class will provide an overview of the complex inner workings of contemporary museums. Through field trips, hands on work, guest lectures, readings, and in-class participation, students will build towards the final assignment, designing and planning a major exhibition, through a practice (initiated by Shelley Butler and Erica Lehrer) called “curatorial dreaming.” No studio background is required for this class, although creativity will be encouraged. The course promotes experiential learning and provides vital transferable skills for students aiming to work in the cultural sector.

Required Texts:

All course readings are available on Owl. It is the student’s responsibility to let the professor know in advance if they have any trouble downloading the readings.

Assignment Breakdown (dates tbd):

Assignment Descriptions:

More detailed descriptions of all assignments are available on Owl. All assignments will be discussed in class.
Reading Responses

Over the course of the semester, students will respond to the readings assigned in three weeks of your choice (please note, only weeks marked with R can be used to fulfill this assignment). You must respond to all readings assigned that week, but you can choose which weeks. Responses must be uploaded to Dropbox/Owl prior to the class in which the readings have been assigned. Your responses can be provocative, critical, questioning, or praiseworthy but they must demonstrate a clear understanding of the authors’ arguments. 500 words/response.

Short Assignments based on course content

A series of short assignments will be given based on field trips, guest lectures, lectures, skills-building, and in-class discussion. Short assignments will focus on collections management, conservation, fundraising, installation, social media/promotions, and graphic design. Students will choose two of the short assignments to complete.

Curatorial Dreaming assignment

A curatorial dream is “an imagined exhibit or public intervention (tour, film, audio piece, object, etc.) addressing a cultural issue or historical event in a manner relevant to the present day.” This assignment has three components:

1. Students will hand in a proposal that describes their curatorial dream.
2. Later in the semester, having received feedback on their proposal from the professor, students will prepare a short “sharing” presentation that will be presented to peer-groups. Following the peer-group presentations, students will re-submit their proposals and will receive further feedback.
3. The final, major assignment will be handed in at the end of class and will consist of an extensive and well-researched proposal for an exhibition. Students may use any approved format for their final proposal (digital/written/visual etc.).

Learning Outcomes, Museum Studies

- Students will develop a greater understanding of issues significant to the museum field.
- Students will develop knowledge of and discuss different curatorial strategies.
- Students will have the opportunity to develop their own opinions about controversial subjects in the museum field, through class discussions about the readings.
- Students will each learn about the process of designing and mounting a public exhibition.
- Students will perform independent research on a chosen subject.
- Through first-hand experience, students will develop a greater understanding of the variety of roles involved in curating an exhibition, including: budgeting, fundraising, community outreach, event planning, website design, graphic design, conservation, appraisal.
• Students will have the opportunity to hone their critical thinking and writing skills.
• Students will have the opportunity to experience current exhibitions.
• Because there is choice in the short assignments, students will be able to research and write on topics that suit their own areas of interest.
• Field trips and classroom visits introduce students to professionals in the culture and museums sector.
• These events are professional development opportunities, which will give students the opportunity to learn more about the arts and culture sector.
• These events give students a forum to ask professionals career-related questions, offering the potential for ongoing mentorship.
• Students will hone their academic writing skills and will develop their knowledge of critical themes and topics relevant to museum studies.
• Students will become more familiarized with best practices for citing reference materials and utilizing the Chicago Manual of Style.

POLICIES

Late Policy
Students are expected to complete all assignments on time. Assignments are considered late after the start of class the day they are due. Students seeking academic accommodation on medical grounds for any missed tests, exams, participation components and/or assignments must apply to the Academic Counseling office of their home Faculty and provide documentation. Academic accommodation cannot be granted by the professor or the department.

Students will be docked 5%/day for late assignments.

Attendance:
Attendance is required and is an exceptionally important part of this class. Students are expected to attend all class sessions and be prepared for and participate in lectures and discussions, as well as in exhibition brain storms and group work. Students are also expected to help install and de-install the exhibition, which falls outside of class hours. Students who miss less than two classes are not required to seek accommodations for their absences from either the lecture or tutorials. For subsequent absences students will need to seek accommodations according to the Medical Accommodation policy below.

• Under Western’s regulations, if a student misses 15% of their classes, without written corroboration for health or bereavement, they can be debarred from participation in the final exam (or in this case the final essay).
• If a student is consistently absent from a portion of class, they will be considered as exceeding the 15% cut off.
• After three unexcused absences/semester, a student’s final grade may be lowered by half a letter grade.
Student Conduct:
All students will conduct themselves in a manner that will be consistent with the maturity and academic integrity expected of university students. Student conduct shall be consistent with the general laws of the community and with University regulations. Students shall show regard and respect for the rights, safety, and property of all members of the University community and are expected to act in a responsible manner within the University and the community at large.

Students will conduct themselves in a manner consistent with the Code of Student Conduct and treat all members of the Western community with respect. See:
http://westerncalendar.uwo.ca/2015

Emails
- Assignments will not be accepted by email.
- Please clearly identify yourself and the course in any emails.
- I will do my best to respond to emails within 48 hours, exclusive of weekends.
- Due to privacy regulations, grades cannot be discussed over email.

Dropping the class
November 5 is the last day to drop a half course without academic penalty.

Electronic Devices
You may use a computer in class to take notes. All other activities (e.g. checking email or social media sites, etc.) are strongly discouraged, especially as this is distracting to others. Students should turn off all cell phones while in the classroom.

Prerequisites:
You are responsible for ensuring that you have successfully completed all course prerequisites and that you have not taken an antirequisite course. Lack of prerequisites may not be used as basis of appeal. If you are not eligible for a course, you may be removed from it at any time, and you will receive no adjustment to your fees. These decisions cannot be appealed.

Plagiarism and Academic Honesty:
All work for the course MUST be entirely your own. All sources that you use for your assignments must be accurately cited. This will be discussed in tutorials. If you have doubts about how and when to cite sources, consult the Chicago Manual of Style guide on OWL in the Resources section, or talk to me or your TA before the assignment due date. All course work must be completed specifically for this course. Plagiarism and cheating are very serious academic offences and they will be dealt with strictly. Submitting the same work for credit in more than one course is considered cheating.

Plagiarism includes:
1. Quoting verbatim or almost verbatim from any source, including all electronic sources,
without acknowledgement;
2. Adopting someone else's line of thought, argument, or supporting evidence without acknowledgement;
3. Submitting someone else's work, in any form, without acknowledgement;
4. Knowingly representing as one's own an idea of another.
5. Handing in the same work for more than one class.
6. Plagiarism includes presenting the visual or aural work of another creator as your own. Visual or Aural Plagiarism may involve both hand-based media such as drawing, painting, printmaking and sculpture, as well as digital media such as photography, video and sound. It includes work subsequently manipulated or transferred between different media, as well as self-plagiarism -- work submitted for assignments previously produced and graded for another course. Similar to textual plagiarism, all student work involving the visual or aural work of others must be appropriately cited/identified whether in print or orally. Failure to do so will lead to similar academic penalties as those identified in Western’s Academic Calendar.

Plagiarism will not be tolerated. For information concerning Western’s Plagiarism and Academic Offences (Scholastic Offences) policies see: http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf

All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism-detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com (http://www.turnitin.com).

Please remember:
One of the most important resources for course counselling, special permissions, course changes, grade appeals, etc., is the Undergraduate Chair of Visual Arts, Prof. C. Barteet (tel. 519-661-3440; vaugc@uwo.ca). Please note, however, that should you encounter any serious difficulties due to illness, family emergency, etc., you should consult the Academic Counselor for your Faculty (Ms. Amanda Green and Mr. Ben Hakala are the counselors for the Faculty of Arts and Humanities).

The Student Development Centre (WSS room 4111; tel: 519-661-3031; www.sdc.uwo.ca) offers a wide range of useful services to students including workshops on learning skills, career and employment services, and an effective writing program, amongst many more.

The D.B. Weldon Library offers orientation tours from the first week of classes until Thanksgiving, where you will get acquainted with the numerous research resources available. As well, the University libraries have an extremely useful website where you can search the library system, the databases, view your circulation record, renew materials, access your UWO e-mail account, and much more. Check it out at: www.lib.uwo.ca.

Financial Aid Services is your main source of information for OSAP, bursaries, loans, scholarships, and the work-study program which offer part-time positions on campus for Western students.
VISUAL ARTS Undergraduate Grading Guidelines - Art History
These guidelines are benchmarks that are not to be followed as rigid regulations. They will be adjusted as appropriate to take into account the level of the course and any specific instructions given by a professor. For example, grades in first year courses are generally lower than in fourth year.
