North-South Mobility in Canada's Universities

Western International, in collaboration with Aga Khan University and Global Higher Education Consultancy has made a significant contribution to research in identifying ethical considerations for North-South student mobility programs and resulting best practices.

As universities redouble efforts to internationalize, it is a challenge, and their responsibility, to be hyper-self-reflexive about asymmetrical power relationships and how they collaborate with partners in the Global South in order to avoid unintentionally reproducing oppressive or colonial relationships. Bob Gough, Farzana Karim-Haji and Pamela Roy's work on *Building Ethical Global Engagement with Host Communities* (2016) is featured in a recent Universities Canada publication entitled, North-South Mobility in Canada's Universities.

Internship Experience: Andrea Burke (Mwanza, Tanzania 2016)

"I think Western Heads East is such a strong initiative. Going to Mwanza only made me more sure that what the program works toward is sustainable and collaborative, as well as a bottom-up approach which promotes responsibility for all parties involved." – Andrea Burke, September 2017

"My sincere hope is that I take a lot of my learned values back to Canada and can hold onto them amidst the hustle and bustle of day-to-day life in an industrialized, isolated society. Values such as collaboration, acceptance and openness, and putting people before tasks. I mean to integrate these ideas into my own personal philosophy in the way that I see it here in Mwanza, where I have come to realize that I don't value these things as much as I should."

- Andrea Burke, July 2016
