COURSE OBJECTIVES: This course looks at urban life in the city of Rome, exploring questions of urban identity, the uses of social space, and the construction of social rituals. We will cover such topics such as the conceptualization of urban space; streets and patterns of urban movement; suburbs, hills and neighborhoods; Rome as a museum; smellsapes and soundsapes; baths, spectacles, and triumphs; the retail economy; dying, burial, and cremation; and religious life in the ancient city. We will look at the benefits to city life, such as gardens and other public spaces, as well as malfunctions of the city: diseases, pollution, crowding, and crime.

NOTE FROM THE DEAN OF ARTS and HUMANITIES: You are responsible for ensuring that you have successfully completed all course prerequisites and that you have not taken an antirequisite course. Lack of prerequisites may not be used as basis of appeal. If you are not eligible for a course, you may be removed from it at any time, and you will receive no adjustment to your fees. These decisions cannot be appealed.
ENROLLMENT RESTRICTIONS:
Enrollment in this course is restricted to graduate students in Classical Studies, as well as any student that has obtained special permission to enroll in this course from the course instructor as well as the Graduate Chair (or equivalent) from the student’s home program.

PLAGIARISM: Students must write their essays and assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea, or a passage of text from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major academic offence (see Scholastic Offence Policy in the Western Academic Calendar). Nor are students allowed to use any form of AI in the writing of their paper.

POLICY ON ACCOMMODATION FOR MEDICAL ILLNESS: Accommodation Policy
Staying healthy – physically and mentally – is an essential part of achieving your academic goals. There are many resources on campus available to help you maintain your health and wellness (start here: http://wec.uwo.ca/ and https://www.uwo.ca/health/). Please contact the Graduate Chair if you have any concerns about health or wellness interfering with your studies.

If academic accommodation should become necessary at any point, students should contact their course instructor(s) and/or supervisor, as appropriate. Students should also contact the Graduate Chair in most cases, and especially if accommodation is needed for:

- more than one course
- more than one week
- any tests, exams, and/or assignments worth 10% or more of a final grade
- any program milestone (comprehensive exams, thesis, etc.)

In these cases, the Graduate Chair may request that a student work with Student Accessibility Services (http://www.sdc.uwo.ca/ssl/) to arrange a plan for accommodation (see SGPS Regulation 14: http://www.grad.uwo.ca/current_students/regulations/14.html).

ACCESSIBLE EDUCATION WESTERN (AEW):
Western is committed to achieving barrier-free accessibility for all its members, including graduate students. As part of this commitment, Western provides a variety of services devoted to promoting, advocating, and accommodating persons with disabilities in their respective graduate program. Graduate students with disabilities (for example, chronic illnesses, mental health conditions, mobility impairments) are strongly encouraged to register with Accessible Education Western (AEW), a confidential service designed to support graduate and undergraduate students through their academic program. With the appropriate documentation, the student will work with both AEW and their graduate programs (normally their Graduate Chair and/or Course instructor) to ensure that appropriate academic accommodations to program requirements are arranged. These accommodations include individual counselling, alternative formatted literature, accessible campus transportation, learning strategy instruction, writing exams and assistive technology instruction.

Western has many services and programs that support the personal, physical, social and academic needs of students with disabilities. For more information and links to these services: http://accessibility.uwo.ca/

HEALTH/WELLNESS SERVICES: Students who are in emotional/mental distress should refer to Mental Health @ Western http://www.uwo.ca/uwocom/mentalhealth/ for a complete list of options about how to obtain help.

Gender-based and sexual violence
Western is committed to reducing incidents of gender-based and sexual violence and providing compassionate support to anyone who has gone through these traumatic events. If you have experienced sexual or gender-based violence (either recently or in the past), you will find information about support services for survivors, including emergency contacts at https://www.uwo.ca/health/student_support/survivor_support/get-help.html.
To connect with a case manager or set up an appointment, please contact support@uwo.ca.

Learning Development and Success
Counsellors at the Learning Development and Success Centre (https://learning.uwo.ca) are ready to help you improve your learning skills. They offer presentations on strategies for improving time management, multiple-choice exam preparation/writing, textbook reading, and more. Individual support is offered throughout the Fall/Winter terms in the drop-in Learning Help Centre, and year-round through individual counselling.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

- To become familiar with the main evidence (visual, literary, and archaeological) for urbanism and architecture in Roman antiquity
- To become familiar with modern theories and definitions of urbanism
- have an understanding of the Roman concept of urban space
- have and understanding of urban ritual and the uses of social space
- have examined the physical components of Roman architecture and building design
- To become aware of the problems with and limitations of using ancient archaeological and literary evidence.
- To investigate modern reactions to, interpretations of, and preconceptions about that evidence.
- understand the importance of architecture and cityscapes as both a reflection and a formative influence on a society

TRANSFERABLE SKILLS:

- an advanced understanding of the importance of historical perspective, and how social norms and customs and the construction and consumption of material culture (e.g. architecture, sculpture and painting) is a product of time, events and context;
- an understanding of how iconography/symbolism in any historical period may be used inter alia to signify cultural identity, political power, state nationalism, and historical memorial
- the ability of critical visual analysis of archaeological evidence, and the results of such analysis, to formulate, develop, and argue an hypothesis/thesis based on this primary evidence;
- a developed understanding of the limits of archaeological evidence in the reconstruction of ancient societies and the restrictions the material record places on our ability to formulate hypotheses and interpretations;
- advanced oral communication skills through the oral presentations of a scholarly argument/hypothesis using the archaeological and written evidence, the ability to lead and direct class discussion, and meet the challenge of questions/criticisms of seminar content;
- to have advanced written communication skills in the clear and organized presentation of an argument/hypothesis within the prescribed limits of the writing assignments; among the basic research skills acquired are the ability to collect relevant bibliography on a prescribed topic, critically engage with the scholarly literature with an assessment of the relative merits of an argument, and write a thesis in a format that includes a clear introductory statement of intent, a well-constructed and logical presentation of the argument including the relative merits of various scholarly opinion, and a conclusion that gives an assessment of the evidence and the author’s own evaluation of the evidence.

This will be a discussion-based seminar which will require participation from all students.

ESSAY AND PRESENTATIONS:

- Essays should be 5000 words, and are due THURSDAY APRIL 25th
- I encourage you to write the essay on a topic of interest to you (in consultation with me). Although we cover many topics pertinent to Roman urban social rituals in the class readings and discussion, some we simply do not have time to examine. One of those may be appropriate for your paper: for instance, religion in the city; gendered spaces; various emperors and the physical fabric of the city, etc. You can also move outside Rome proper and write about another ancient city (Pompeii, Ostia).
- Presentations should be about 15-20 minutes in length (in other words, conference-paper length, or 8-10 double-spaced typed pages). You will choose a date for your presentation in the first week or two of classes; if you need to cancel or change your date you must find a classmate willing to take your place.
- Your essay should incorporate and address questions, suggestions, and comments raised during your presentation; thus, the essay and presentation are on the same topic.
- Article reviews: students are required to choose TWO of our readings in advance and prepare questions and comments for discussion in class. (Our textbook is excluded from these). You will choose your articles in the first week or two of classes; if you need to cancel or change your choices you must find a classmate willing to take your place. For each article presentation, in 10-15 minutes:
  1. please summarize the article in question
  2. tell us what the author set out to do, and using what evidence
  3. if s/he achieved this, in your opinion
  4. Tell us what you liked or didn’t like about the article or chapter.
5. You may also pose questions to us about the content
6. Please type up your report and turn it in to me (it should be 1-2 double-spaced typed pages, or thereabouts).
