UNDERGRADUATE COURSES & PROGRAMS
2021-2022

Classical Studies at Western is broadly based on the study of the language, literature, history, culture and archaeology of the Greek and Roman world. The study of Classics is, by its nature, an interdisciplinary one, combining the main fields of Greek and Latin literature, history and archaeology with other subjects such as religion, mythology, political theory, law, philosophy, sports, music, sexuality and gender studies.

Classical Studies is not only an exploration of ancient civilizations in the Mediterranean, but also an exploration of how Greece and Rome fundamentally shaped our own world and the way we think today.

WHY CHOOSE A CLASSICAL STUDIES PROGRAM?

With the present emphasis of students on choosing a university degree which they hope will lead directly to employment, why choose a liberal arts program such as Classical Studies?

Classical Studies in general helps to develop excellent skills in communication and problem solving and has given a distinct advantage to our own graduates who have gone on to careers in journalism, computer programming, publishing, teaching, library science, museum studies, law, and business administration.

Students planning to continue in the professional fields such as law and medicine find that Classical Studies establishes a solid background for professional study and sets them apart from others with good records from less diverse and ambitious programs.

The interdisciplinary nature of Classical Studies makes it an ideal component of a double major when combined with other fields in the Faculty of Arts and Humanities and other Faculties. Past and present students have combined Classical Studies with Bioarchaeological Anthropology, Biology, Comparative Literature and Civilization, English, Film Studies, History, Kinesiology, Linguistics, Media and Information Studies, Medical Sciences, Philosophy, Political Science, Psychology, Sociology, and Visual Arts.

The Department of Classical Studies offers courses representative of the basic areas of inquiry into the ancient Greek and Roman world: language, literature, history, culture and archaeology. Courses are arranged in three categories, allowing students to consider aspects of the ancient world from different perspectives. The general courses (2000-level) offer broad overviews of selected subjects. The Honours courses (3000-level or higher) in Classical Studies provide the opportunity for students to pursue topics in greater depth. The courses in ancient Greek and Latin allow direct access to ancient literature in the original languages.

THE DEGREE STRUCTURE

The Modules:

There are four possible modules of study that may be entered after First Year:

- Honours Specialization
  (9.0 or more specified courses)

- Major
  (6.0 or more specified courses)

- Specialization
  (9.0 or more specified courses)

- Minor
  (4.0 or more specified courses)

The modular degree structure affords the opportunity to combine various subjects from different Departments and Faculties. The chart below shows how modules can be combined in the three different types of degrees offered. The modules taken must fit within these degree structures.

Departments, Schools, Faculties and Affiliated Colleges may offer some or all of the above modules. See Faculty and Department listings for details.

Combinations other than those listed below have not been approved; consequently, they may not be taken. Enrolment in some modules may be limited.

Glossary:

Module: A structured set of courses specified by a Department, Faculty, or Affiliated College to fulfill the requirements of an Honours Specialization, Specialization, Major, or Minor, to be entered after first year.

Honours Specialization Module: Comprised of 9.0 or more courses designated by a Department, Faculty, or Affiliated College. This module is available only in an Honours Bachelor Degree (four year).

Specialization Module: Comprised of 9.0 or more courses designated by a Department, Faculty, or Affiliated College. This module is available only in the Bachelor Degree.

Major Module: Comprised of 6.0 or more courses designated by a Department, Faculty, or Affiliated College

Minor Module: Comprised of 4.0 or more courses designated by a Department, Faculty, or Affiliated College
ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

HONOURS SPECIALIZATION IN CLASSICAL STUDIES:

Completion of first-year requirements with no failures. Students must have an average of at least 70% in 3.0 principal courses, including Classical Studies 1000 and Greek or Latin 1000 plus 1.0 additional course, with no mark in these principal courses below 60%.

Module: 9.0 courses

1.0 course in Greek or Latin at the 2000 level or above.
1.0 course in Classical Studies at the 2000 level or above.
7.0 courses in Classical Studies at the 3000 level or above or in Greek and Latin at the 2000 level or above.

A maximum of 2.0 courses may be substituted for the courses in the last two items above from: History of Science 2151F/G, 4420F/G (Greek and Roman Medicine); Philosophy 2200F/G, 3007F/G, 3008F/G, 4007F/G, 4017F/G (Ancient Philosophy); Visual Arts History 2247E (Greek and Roman Art).

Note:

a) With permission of departments or programs concerned, students may count up to 1.0 appropriate senior full-course equivalent towards this Module and another program except for the Minor and Major in Classical Studies.

b) The minimum language requirement for this module is normally not sufficient for admittance to graduate programs in Classics/Classical Studies, which usually require a solid foundation in both Latin and Greek. Students who are considering graduate work in Classics should enrol in both Greek and Latin and combine their Honours Specialization in Classical Studies with a Minor in Greek or Latin.

SPECIALIZATION IN CLASSICAL STUDIES:

Completion of first year requirements, including Classical Studies 1000 with a mark of at least 60%.

Module: 9.0 courses

5.0 courses in Classical Studies, Greek or Latin at the 2000 level or above.
4.0 courses in Classical Studies, Greek or Latin at the 3000 level or above.

A maximum of 2.0 courses may be substituted from: History of Science 2151F/G, 4420F/G (Greek and Roman Medicine); Philosophy 2200F/G, 3007F/G, 3008F/G, 4007F/G, 4017F/G (Ancient Philosophy); Visual Arts History 2247E, the former Visual Arts History 2249E; the former Visual Arts History 4445F/G (Greek and Roman Art).

Note:

a) With permission of departments or programs concerned, students may count up to 1.0 appropriate senior full-course equivalent towards this Module and another program except for the Minor and Major in Classical Studies.

b) This program is not sufficient for admittance to graduate programs in Classics/Classical Studies. Students who are considering graduate work in Classics should take the Honours Specialization module in Classical Studies with some additional language courses in Greek and Latin.
MAJOR IN CLASSICAL STUDIES:

Completion of first-year requirements, including Classical Studies 1000 with a mark of at least 60%.

Module: 6.0 courses
1.0 course in Classical Studies at the 2000 level or above.
5.0 courses in Classical Studies at the 3000 level or above or in Greek and Latin at the 2000 level or above.

A maximum of 2.0 courses may be substituted for the courses from: History of Science 2151F/G, 4420F/G (Greek and Roman Medicine); Philosophy 2200F/G, 3007F/G, 3008F/G, 4007F/G, 4017F/G (Ancient Philosophy); Visual Arts History 2247E (Greek and Roman Art).

Note:

a) With permission of departments or programs concerned, students may count up to 1.0 appropriate senior full-course equivalent towards this Module and another program except for the Minor in Classical Studies.

b) This program is not sufficient for admittance to graduate programs in Classics/Classical Studies. Students who are considering graduate work in Classics should take the Honours Specialization module in Classical Studies with some additional language courses in Greek and Latin.

MINOR IN CLASSICAL STUDIES:

Completion of first-year requirements. Classical Studies 1000 is recommended. With permission of the Department, students may have the Classical Studies 1000 requirement waived in those senior level courses for which it is normally a prerequisite.

Module: 4.0 courses
3.0 courses in Classical Studies at the 2000 level or above.
1.0 designated essay course in Classical Studies at the 2000 level or above.

A maximum of 2.0 courses may be substituted for the courses from: History of Science 2151F/G, 4420F/G (Greek and Roman Medicine); Philosophy 2200F/G, 3007F/G, 3008F/G, 4007F/G, 4017F/G (Ancient Philosophy); Visual Arts History 2247E, the former Visual Arts History 2249E; the former Visual Arts History 4445F/G (Greek and Roman Art).

Note:

a) With the permission of departments or programs concerned, students may count up to 1.0 appropriate senior full-course equivalent towards this Minor and a Major or Honours Specialization in another program except in Classical Studies.

MINOR IN GREEK:

Completion of first-year requirements, including Greek 1000 with a mark of at least 60%.

Module: 4.0 courses
3.0 courses in Greek at the 2000 level or above.
1.0 course from: Classical Studies 3000-4999 subject to department approval or Greek 4000-4999.

Note:

a) With the permission of departments or programs concerned, students may count up to 1.0 appropriate senior full-course equivalent towards this Minor and a Major or Honours Specialization in another program.
MINOR IN LATIN:

Completion of first-year requirements, including Latin 1000 with a mark of at least 60%.

Module: 4.0 courses
3.0 courses in Latin at the 2000 level or above.
1.0 course from: Classical Studies 3000-4999 subject to department approval or Latin 4000-4999.

Note:
   a) With the permission of departments or programs concerned, students may count up to 1.0 appropriate senior full-course equivalent towards this Minor and a Major or Honours Specialization in another program.

MINOR IN GREEK AND LATIN:

Completion of first-year requirements, including Greek 1000 and Latin 1000 with a mark of at least 60%.

Module: 4.0 courses
1.0 course in Greek at the 2000 level or above.
1.0 course in Latin at the 2000 level or above.
2.0 additional courses in Greek and/or Latin at the 2000 level or above.

Note:

CLASSICAL STUDIES (First Year):

CS1000 650: Ancient Greece and Rome – Asynchronous Online (Brown)
Although this course will necessarily include a brief historical outline, it is less concerned with battles and politics than with the cultural and social life and achievements of Greece and Rome. Among the topics to be considered are: magic, religion and philosophy and their inter-relationships; the aesthetic principles of the art and literature of the Greeks and Romans and their masterpieces of architecture, sculpture and painting, poetry and prose; the structure of society; the position of women; slavery; everyday life; sport; warfare; and medicine. 3 lecture hours; 1.0 course

GENERAL CLASSICAL STUDIES COURSES (2000 Level):

Please note that you can only count 1.0 Classical Studies courses at the 2000-2999 level towards the Honours Specialization or Major in Classical Studies. Classical Studies program students are encouraged to take Classical Studies 3000 level courses already in their second year of university studies.

CS2200 650: Classical Mythology - Asynchronous Online (Suksi)
Students will be introduced to the major myth cycles of ancient Greece and Rome, with reference to the cultural contexts in which they were produced and received. Students will become familiar with the ancient images and original texts (in translation) that provide us with evidence for the mythic narratives. Some of the major theoretical approaches to the study of myth will be briefly introduced. 2 lecture hours; 1.0 course

CS2300 650: Sport and Recreation in the Ancient World - Asynchronous Online (Stocking)
This course will examine the various sports, and recreational and leisure activities available to people in the ancient world (principally Greece and Rome) using literary and artistic sources. Topics to be examined include ancient Greek athletics and the Olympic Games; the Panathenaia; erotics and athletics; ball games; the symposium, prostitution; Roman gladiatorial combat and other amphitheatrical events; chariot racing; eating and drinking; baths and bathing; gambling; and taverns and bars. 2 lecture hours; 1.0 course

CS2301A&B 650: Crime and Punishment in Ancient Greece and Rome – Asynchronous Online (Nousek)
This course is an introduction to crime and criminal law in ancient Greece and Rome. Modern criminology may provide comparison and perspective. Readings may include law, rhetoric, philosophy, drama, and/or historiography. No previous knowledge of Greece and Rome is necessary, and all readings are in English. 2 lecture hours; 0.5 course

CS2480A 650: Roman Emperors: The Good, The Bad, and The Ugly - Asynchronous Online (Meyer)
This course examines the characters, policies, and actions of famous and infamous Roman emperors. It examines the virtues of the best emperors, the depravities of the worst emperors, and how these men are judged, using literary, documentary and archaeological evidence to see how their reputations have evolved over time. 2 lecture hours; 0.5 course

CS2500A 650: Ancient Cities in the Mediterranean - Asynchronous Online (Greene)
The course focuses on the archaeological remains of some of the earliest and most impressive cities and civilizations in human history, such as Jericho, Mycenae, Athens and Rome. Throughout the course, we will investigate the earliest signs of urban organization in the archaeological record and track the evolution of the physical layout and social organization of urban life through 10,000 years of history in western Asia and the Mediterranean. The course ends with an in-depth look at the urban centres of Greece and Rome. 2 lecture hours; 0.5 course
CS2525A&B 650: Egyptian Art and Architecture - Asynchronous Online (Pratt)
This course is designed as a broad introduction to the world of Egyptian art and architecture. Starting with the Predynastic period, we will trace the major trends of Egyptian visual materials, such as sculpture, architecture, and painting, and conclude with the New Kingdom. Emphasis will be placed on learning the tools for visual recognition of Egyptian art and architecture within its cultural and historical context.
2 lecture hours; 0.5 course

CS2700A&B: Technology and Engineering in the Ancient World (Lamari)
This course will consider the basic materials and processes used in the ancient world from the earliest stone and clay implements to the multi-gear astronomical computer (1st century BC) found in a shipwreck off the coast of Greece.
2 lecture hours; 0.5 course

CS2800A&B: Greek and Latin Elements in English (Lamari)
Greek and Latin words are the sole components of most of our scientific terms, and make up 70% of the English vocabulary. A person who knows these Greek and Latin linguistic roots will know the meaning of a word like "otology", "lithotripsy" or "lucifugus" just by looking at it. The purpose of this course is to give students a greatly increased control of the English language.
2 lecture hours; 0.5 course
HONOURS CLASSICAL STUDIES COURSES (3000-4000 Level):

Please note that, unlike in other departments, program students in Classical Studies should start taking 3000 level courses in their second year of university studies.

CS3300F: Ancient Greek and Roman Sexuality (Olson)
This course is designed to give students insight into ancient Greek and Roman sexual categories and practices using primary sources. The wide body of artistic evidence available from the ancient world (vase-painting, sculpture, wall-painting, mosaic, and everyday objects) will be supplemented by a close reading of literary sources in translation (erotic and lyric poetry, satire, and epigram). Topics covered will include the history of the study of sexuality, ideal male and female bodies, phallicism, homosexuality, male-to-female lovemaking, prostitution, hermaphrodites, transvestism, masturbation, slavery and sexuality, and sex and the arena.
3 lecture hours; 0.5 course.

CS3350G: Women in Ancient Rome (Olson)
This course seeks to introduce students to the study of women and women’s lives in Roman antiquity starting from a body of literary and artistic evidence. Marriage and childbearing, women and the law, women’s occupations, and women in history and poetry will be explored from a variety of perspectives; as well, powerpoint lectures will focus on such topics as women's artifacts, artistic portrayals of women, and female spaces in antiquity.
3 lecture hours; 0.5 course.

CS3490F: Late Antiquity (Meyer)
This course explores the world of the late Roman Empire from the "crisis" of the third century AD onward, including figures such as Constantine the Great and Julian the Apostate. It examines the political, religious, intellectual and social history of the late Empire through literature, documentary texts, and material culture.
3 lecture hours; 0.5 course

CS3530E: Greek Art and Archaeology – Synchronous Online (Pratt)
A survey of the art and archaeology of ancient Greece from the Dark Ages through the Classical period (1050 – 323 BCE), focusing on the architecture, sculpture, and painting of the 6th and 5th centuries (c. 600 – 400 BCE), and the meaning and function of material culture in ancient Greek society.
3 lecture hours; 1.0 course

CS3585F: Archaeology of Pompeii (Greene)
This course introduces students to the extraordinary remains of urban life in Roman Italy preserved by the volcanic eruption of Mt. Vesuvius in the Bay of Naples. The course focuses on the city of Pompeii and will also look at remains from nearby Herculaneum. Subjects covered in the course include: social life in the city, luxury and decadence in the Roman world, burial and commemoration, infrastructure of a city, modern archaeological excavation and the reception of Pompeiian themes today.
3 lecture hours; 0.5 course

CS3903G: Special Topics – Resources and the Environment in the Ancient Mediterranean (TBD)
In this course, we will examine the exploitation, extraction, and management of natural resources in the ancient Mediterranean world with an emphasis on the technology that made this exploitation possible and its contribution to local and transregional economies. Focus will also be placed on considering the organization and ownership of these industries and who benefited from them. Using archaeological as well as literary evidence, we will explore case studies from across the Greek and Roman worlds relating to water, fuels, metals, building materials, agriculture, leather, and aquaculture, among others. In this course, students will improve their research and writing skills while also learning about a core aspect of the ancient Mediterranean world. We will also consider what the study of natural resources in the ancient world can teach us about our own sustainable management of resources today.
3 lecture hours; 0.5 course
CS3904F: Special Topics – Archaic and Classical Sparta (TBD)
This course will focus on one question: What can we really know about Sparta? Most of what we think we know about Sparta is merely a mirage. In this course we will be debunking this mirage and challenging what we think we know about Sparta by paying close attention to the primary material. We will be discussing a range of topics including the development of the polis, religious life, social and political organization, and foreign policy.
3 lecture hours; 0.5 course

CS3905G: Special Topics – Classical Reception Studies (Pogorzelski)
This course will focus on the ways in which post-classical cultures, up to and including cultures of the twenty-first century, have received ancient Greek and Roman literature, history, and material culture. Topics may include representations of Greece and Rome in literature and film, modern adaptations of ancient texts, the history of scholarship, the cultural power of ruins and museums, and the role of Greece and Rome in various forms of nationalism and imperialism. All assigned texts will be in English and no previous experience of Classical Studies is required.
3 lecture hours; 0.5 course

CS4450G: Special Topics – The Crisis of the Late Roman Republic (Nousek)
The Romans were so opposed to change and adaptation that the Latin phrase res novae, which literally means “new things” was interpreted as “revolution”. And yet, the political system of the Late Republic was in crisis: without a major overhaul it would never survive. When Caesar took the reins of government after the Civil War, he began to institute reforms that might have stabilized the republican system, but he never had a chance. A plot to assassinate him was successful on the Ides of March, 44 BCE. One question was on the lips of all political agents at the time: what next? This course will trace the history of the first century BCE, leading up to that crucial moment – not so much the assassination itself, but what to do next – where we will use a role-playing game, Beware the Ides of March, from the Reacting to the Past Consortium, to explore the possibilities available to the various factions involved in leading the Roman state in the aftermath of Caesar’s murder. From the game’s perspective, the future is not yet written: will the republic survive?

CS3050G: Study Tour to Italy: Roman History, Archaeology and Culture (Meyer/Greene)
This intensive 2-week long study tour to Italy offers students a unique international learning experience. Roman history, literature and culture will be discussed in direct relation to the physical remains in museums and archaeological sites, such as the Forum Romanum, the Colosseum, the Vatican Museum and Pompeii.
Prerequisite(s): Any Classical Studies course on the 1000-2999 level and permission of the instructor.
Field trip to Italy, minimum of 39 lecture hours, 0.5 course.
GREEK COURSES:

GK1000: Introductory Ancient Greek – Synchronous Online (Stocking)
This is an intensive course that will provide students with a firm grasp of the foundations of the Ancient Greek language. Those students with OAC or Grade 12U level Ancient Greek must consult the Department before registering for this course.
3 lecture hours; 1.0 course

GK2000: Advanced Ancient Greek (TBD)
A continuation of Greek 1000, covering the major points of grammar and syntax, as well as an introduction to the works of Ancient Greek authors in the original Greek.
Prerequisite: Greek 1000
3 lecture hours; 1.0 course

GK3100A/4903A: Ancient Greek Prose Selections – Synchronous Online (Steinbock)
What was it like to be an Athenian? The genre of the logos epitaphios, the Athenian funeral oration, delivered over the bones of the war dead by the city’s leading statesman, is arguably one of our best sources for the Athenians’ view of themselves and their city’s glorious past. The central text for this class will be Lysias’ epitaphios for those who fell during the Corinthian War (c. 391 BC), but we will also read parts of Demosthenes’ funeral oration for the fallen at Chaeronea (338 BC), Hyperides’ funeral oration for the dead of the Lamian War (322 BC), the fragments of Gorgias’ logos epitaphios, and the spoof funeral oration in Plato’s Menexenus (c. 386 BC), as time permits.
By thoroughly analyzing and translating the original Greek, students will consolidate their understanding of Ancient Greek grammar and syntax. Students will also be introduced to the main concepts of classical rhetoric and gain familiarity with typical features of epideictic orations. Topics discussed will include the civic and religious aspects of the Athenian state funeral ceremony, the archaeological evidence for the public funeral monuments, the concepts of Athenian democratic ideology and collective memory. Special emphasis will be given to the historical distortions found in these idealized versions of the Athenian past.
Prerequisite: GK2000, or permission of the Department.
3 lecture hours; 0.5 course

GK3200B/4904B: Ancient Greek Poetry Selections (Brown)
A selection of Ancient Greek Poetry. The course will also provide critical review of Greek grammar and syntax. Through close reading of the text, students will become proficient in translation and gain a deeper appreciation of how philological detail contributes to broader thematic issues within Greek literature.
Prerequisite: GK2000, or permission of the Department.
3 lecture hours; 0.5 course
LATIN COURSES:

LA1000: Introductory Latin (TBD-Section 001/TBD- Section 002)
Latin is valuable to students of science, medicine, law, history, and the Romance languages, helps to improve English grammar and vocabulary, and is well worth studying for its own great intrinsic merit and beauty. In this course we’ll learn the fundamental grammar and vocabulary of Latin and read various passages from Classical authors. Those students with Grade 12U level Latin must consult the Department before registering for this course.
3 lecture hours; 1.0 course

LA2000: Advanced Latin (Gervais)
In the first half of this course we’ll complete our study of Latin grammar and vocabulary that began in LA1000. In the second half of the course we’ll read extended passages of unadapted Latin prose and poetry. By the end of the course, students will have all the skills necessary to begin reading some of the greatest works of Western literature in the original Latin.
Prerequisite: LA1000, or permission of the Department.
3 lecture hours; 1.0 course

LA3100A/4903A: Latin Prose Selections (Nousek)
The purpose of this course is twofold: to strengthen students’ understanding of the fundamentals of Latin syntax and morphology, and to develop skills for reading Latin prose independently. The class will read from the works of canonical Latin prose authors (e.g. Cicero, Livy or similar) and will include a review of Latin grammar learned in previous courses. As time permits, we will also discuss the relevant cultural and historical context in which these texts were produced.
Prerequisite: LA2000, or permission of the Department.
3 lecture hours; 0.5 course

LA3200B/4904B: Latin Poetry Selections (Gervais)
A selection of Latin poetry. The course will also provide critical review of Latin grammar and syntax. Through close reading of the text, students will become proficient in translation and gain a deeper appreciation of how philological detail contributes to broader thematic issues within Latin literature.
Prerequisite: LA2000, or permission of the Department.
3 lecture hours; 0.5 course
