Unless you have either the requisites for this course or written special permission from your Dean to enroll in it, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. This decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites.

Objectives:

The purpose of the course is to conduct a structured and informed reading of key portions from the Christian Bible according to modern Biblical scholarship in order to introduce its major narratives, and to the different ways the Bible has been read. It does not deal centrally with theology or religious doctrine, except insofar as religious ideas have shaped Judaeo-Christian cultures. It reads the Bible critically, not literally, though literalistic interpretations of the stories may be considered as they affect Western culture. (Students who insist that the Bible must be read literally are encouraged to leave now. This is not a debate I will enter into.) The course cannot attempt to deal specifically with works of literature, drama, film, painting, music, or commercial culture based on the Bible.

Course Materials

The specified text is The New Oxford Annotated Bible with Apocrypha: New Revised Standard Version, available in the Bookstore. Other editions or translations are allowed, but please let me see which you are principally using.

Methods of Evaluation

Mid-term Test	March 5	20%
Essay	March 26 – 12 to 15 pages	20%
6 Response papers	Due the first day of the assigned reading 1 page each, written personally and informally- these are read non -judgmentally and not graded	10%
Participation	A neutral grade, plus or minus	10%
Final Exam	2 hours - time & place tba	40%

A student must receive a passing grade for both term work and the final examination in order to receive a passing grade for the course. This applies to all courses in all programs offered by the department. Students whose term and final exam grades average 50% or above, even though one of the two is a failure, shall receive a default grade of 48%. Please note: The department of English & Writing Studies does not release final grades. All undergraduate grade reports will be available online from the Office of the Registrar.

Students are fully responsible for looking at and being familiar with the information posted on the department website at <http://www.uwo.ca/english/undergraduate/info%20for%20students.html#grade>.

Assignments:

Late Essay: The Bad News: No essay will be accepted after the last day of classes in April without arrangement in advance. By university regulation, all requests for INC or SPC (Special Exam) must be arranged through the Dean's Office with appropriate documentation. The Good News: You may establish a reasonable alternative due date for the essays by emailing me with your new arrangement - no excuses or explanation necessary.

MAJOR TRANSLATIONS OF THE BIBLE

Septuagint (3d century B.C.). A translation of Hebrew scriptures into Greek, made by and for the benefit of Jewish communities living in Alexandria and other Greek-speaking areas of the Mediterranean. It is useful as a means to interpret the Hebrew text. Scholars abbreviate it as LXX.

Vulgate (circa 390 AD). The standard Latin translation of the Bible produced by St. Jerome. It remained in use by the Catholic church for centuries. Northrop Frye called it possibly the greatest achievement of scholarship by a single man.

Geneva Bible (1560). This translation was the product of Protestant refugees from Bloody Mary in Switzerland. It was Shakespeare's Bible, and rivalled the King James Version through the seventeenth century.

King James Version (1611). Described as "the noblest monument of the English language, the KJV (or "Authorized Version," AV) has been the most influential version of the Bible for writers of literature. Its phrases and rhythms surface repeatedly in English language writings of all kinds.

Revised Standard Version and New Revised Standard Version (RSV 1952, NRSV 1990). These versions are based on the KJV, but brought up to date in terms of changes in the English language, as well as scholarly understanding of the texts.

New English Bible and Revised English Bible (NEB 1970, REB 1989). This is a good scholarly version, retranslated from original languages without reference to the KJV.

Jerusalem Bible and New Jerusalem Bible (JB 1966, NJB 1985). Like the NEB and REB, this is a good scholarly Roman Catholic version, retranslated from original languages without reference to the KJV, but influenced by its French predecessor. As a translation, it is less elegant than the others, but valuable for its introductions, notes, and cross-reference notes. An excellent study Bible.

The Good News Bible: Today's English Version (TEV 1976). This is an effort to translate the Bible into plain colloquial English. Though it is the best attempt of its kind, it is not recommended as a study Bible.

The Living Bible (1971). This version, popular among conservative Protestant churches, was prepared not from original languages, but from other English versions. It is not really a translation, but a "paraphrase," and it imposes elements of conservative theological interpretation not present in the original languages. Avoid it.

Attendance:

Although I do not take formal attendance, gross absenteeism from classes is not acceptable. Students who persistently fail to appear for classes will be dropped from the course and debarred from the final exam.

Accommodation

Students seeking academic accommodation on medical grounds for any missed tests, exams, participation components and/or assignments worth 10% or more of their final grade must apply to the Academic Counselling office of their home Faculty and provide documentation. Academic accommodation cannot be granted by the instructor or department. Documentation shall be submitted, as soon as possible, to the Office of the Dean of the student's Faculty of registration, together with a request for relief specifying the nature of the accommodation being requested. The UWO Policy on Accommodation for Medical Illness and further information regarding this policy can be found at http://uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/accommodation_medical.pdf.

Downloadable Student Medical Certificate (SMC):

Academic Offences

Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf

Plagiarism:

Students must write their essays and assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea or passage from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major academic offence.

Plagiarism Checking:

All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com <http://www.turnitin.com>.
