You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites. It is students' responsibility to ensure that they have the proper requisites.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The course will examine a number of “schools” or trends in twentieth-century theory: eg., structuralism and deconstruction; psychoanalysis, feminism, and gender theory; cultural and materialist thinking about art and media; and postcolonial and critical race.

Most of all, the aim of the course is to challenge our assumptions: about the nature of language and its relationship to the world, as well as its use in literature; about the subject, the self, the I, and how identity is formed; about the relations between subjects, the impact upon them of social and political structures, power; about how literature and art help us think through all of these and the extent to which they engage in those structures of power or perhaps offer the hope of resistance to them.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- To acquire knowledge of some key schools of theory in the twentieth century.
- To develop the ability to read texts critically, unpacking their assumptions and presuppositions.
- To have the theory we read inform our understanding of literature, media, culture, politics, and history.

REQUIRED TEXT

The Norton Anthology of Theory & Criticism. 3rd ed. Vincent B. Leitch et al, eds. Available through the bookstore.

All lectures materials posted for the course are my intellectual property. Students are not to post lectures or lecture materials to any other websites or platforms and may not use the lectures or course materials for any other purpose without my consent.

ACCOMMODATION

There are no timed assessments for this course, so there is unlikely to be need for accommodation. That said, if you have a file with SAS and require other forms of accommodation, please do email me.

ACADEMIC CONSIDERATION FOR ABSENCE

Students will have up to two (2) opportunities during the regular academic year to use an on-line portal to self-report an absence during the term, provided the following conditions are met: the absence is no more than 48 hours in duration, and the assessment for which consideration is being sought is worth 30% or less of the student's final grade. Students are not able to use the self-reporting option in the following circumstances:

- for exams scheduled by the Office of the Registrar (e.g., December and April exams)
- absence of a duration greater than 48 hours,
- assessments worth more than 30% of the student's final grade,
- if a student has already used the self-reporting portal twice during the academic year

If the conditions for a Self-Reported Absence are not met, you will need to provide a Student Medical Certificate if the absence is medical or provide appropriate documentation if there are compassionate grounds for the absence in question. You are encouraged to contact their Faculty academic counselling office to obtain more information about the relevant documentation.

If you self-report an absence, you do NOT need to email me within 24 hours after the absence. If an assignment was due during your self-reported absence, it will now be due 72 hours after the end of the absence. If there are additional complications, then please contact me.

Students should also note that instructors are not permitted to receive documentation directly from a student, whether in support of an application for consideration on medical grounds, or for other reasons. All documentation required for absences that are not covered by the Self-Reported Absence Policy must be submitted to the Academic Counselling office of a student's Home Faculty.

Religious Accommodation

Students should consult the University's list of recognized religious holidays, and should give reasonable notice in writing, prior to the holiday, to the Instructor and an Academic Counsellor if their course requirements will be affected by a religious observance. Additional information is given in the Western Multicultural Calendar.

ACADEMIC OFFENCES

Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf

Plagiarism:

Students must write their essays and assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea or passage from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major academic offence.

Plagiarism Checking:

All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com <http://www.turnitin.com>.

All instances of plagiarism will be reported to the Chair of Undergraduate Studies. Proven cases of plagiarism will result in a grade of zero for the assignment. Subsequent offences will result in failure for the course.
