Course Description
This course introduces students to Australian, South Asian, Caribbean, and African literatures in English. Over the last four decades, these literatures have been studied under rubrics such as commonwealth, post-colonial, world and global literatures. Following an introduction to the histories of these terms, students will be introduced to authors from a range of cultural and historical contexts. We will study representative genres such as the novel, autobiography, drama, poetry, and the short story.

Learning Objectives:
By the end of the course, successful students will be able to:
- Understand the category “global literatures in English”;
- Understand the circulation and functions of genres in global literatures;
- Understand basic chronologies, themes, movements, and convergences among representative writers from South Asia, Africa, and the Caribbean;
- Learn key terms in postcolonial studies that will prepare students for advanced courses in postcolonial literary studies.

Course Mechanics

Pedagogy: The teaching methodology for this course comprises of lectures, in-class analysis, and group discussions. The course requires student participation; we will spend part of each class discussing individual responses to the readings. Students are expected to complete all assigned readings and to come to class with questions about sections they would like to go over during discussion periods.

Assignments: There will be a final exam, one mid-term exam and three essays: two of these essays are short (3-page) papers and the final paper is a research paper of six pages. All essays will be graded on the basis of 1) the quality of the argument, 2) the attention to textual analysis, 3) the use of critical concepts we would have used in the course, 4) the organization of the essay (including its use of the MLA documentation style), and (the final paper) the quality of the research. For that last paper, students are expected to use at least TWO peer-reviewed sources.

The Final Exam will assess students’ familiarity with the primary texts after the mid-term and key concepts discussed over the year. The mid-term will examine the novels and key secondary texts discussed up to that date. A list of all key concepts for the course will be on the course OWL site. The use of texts, lecture notes, and electronic devices is not allowed during the mid-term and final exam.

Each assignment in this course will come with a set of guidelines. There are, however, some basic guidelines for all assignments that are not written in class under exam conditions.

NOTE: Students must receive a passing grade for BOTH term work and the final exam in order to pass this course. Failing the final exam automatically implies a failing grade for the course irrespective of grades accrued prior to the final exam.

Participation: The participation grade covers attendance and contributions to discussions.
Essay Format: All papers must be submitted in the standard essay format. They must be typed in 12-point font on 8.5” x 11” white paper; they must be double-spaced and must have 1” margin on every page! All essays must have pagination: the page number must appear in the top right corner with the student’s name preceding the page number—i.e. “Jones 7.” Instead of a separate title page, students are required to provide the following information on the first page of their essays: 1) name and student number; 2) the names of the Professor and Teaching Assistant; 3) course title; 4) essay submission date. The title of the paper comes after this information. The title of the paper is centered, but the preceding information must be adjusted to the left.

Writing: This is an essay course and good writing skills are crucial to passing this course. We will devote time to learning the mechanics of writing essays on close readings of literary texts. We will also learn the basic components of the MLA citation style. Should students have any problems with the mechanics of university writing, they can avail themselves of the Writing Support Centre at the Student Development Centre (SDC) in the University Community Centre (UCC). Information about the SDC services can be found at http://www.sdc.uwo.ca/writing/.

Documentation: All papers must follow the Modern Language Association (MLA) documentation style. At its most basic, this implies that page numbers appear in parentheses after each citation and there is a Works Cited list at the end of the paper. The Department of English provides an overview of the MLA style. Students can use the “Guidelines for Properly Citing Sources” at: https://instruct.uwo.ca/english/234e/site/essygdlns.html#Thesis.

Essay Submission: All assignments are due in class on the due date before class begins! Students must keep an extra hard copy of submitted written assignments. Students must also retain all copies of graded work until the final grades for this course are available. If students are unable to come to class, essays may placed in the drop-box outside of the Department of English office (AHB 2G02). Such assignments will be considered submitted on the date the office staff retrieve them from the drop-box. Please do not email or fax assignments to the Professor or Teaching Assistants.

Late Submissions: Requests for extensions must be made in writing for extension can be sent to the Teaching Assistants or the Professor. Unapproved late submissions will be penalized 5% for each late day including Saturdays and Sundays. Assignments will not be accepted ten days beyond the due date.

Absenteeism: Excessive absenteeism is grounds for barring a student from taking the final examination. The Academic Calendar states: "Any student who, in the opinion of the instructor, is absent too frequently from class or laboratory periods in any course, will be reported to the Dean of the Faculty offering the course (after due warning has been given). On the recommendation of the department concerned, and with the permission of the Dean of that Faculty, the student will be debarred from taking the regular examination in the course".

Classroom Conduct: All students are required to conduct themselves in a manner that promotes an effective learning environment and according to Western University rules and regulations on classroom behavior. Since this is a large class, our discussions will work best when everyone gets a chance to participate. The best comments tend to be pertinent to readings/discussions and offer insight into the ongoing inquiry. The most helpful questions also tend to be focused. It is sometimes better to avoid long comments or anecdotes that offer no specific insights.
Students are allowed to use laptops in the classroom to take notes on the lectures and discussions. They are NOT allowed to surf the Web, or engage in activities on social media sites such as Facebook or Twitter during class. Students who contravene this rule may expect to have their laptops banned or be asked to leave lectures. Should there be rampant abuse of this laptop rule, the Professor may ban all laptops from the classroom. Students are asked to SWITCH OFF ALL WIRELESS TRANSMISSION DEVICES. Students may not FILM, PHOTOGRAPH or RECORD the Professor or Teaching Assistants in any way without first asking and receiving permission. Such requests should be submitted by email. Students may NOT post papers to the professor or the TA. Students may not chat with each other while the Professor or Teaching Assistants are addressing the class.

Communication: Students may send the Professor and Teaching Assistants emails regarding any course related issues they would like to discuss, but please allow a window of at least 24 hours—excluding Saturdays and Sundays—for a response to emails.

Plagiarism is a major academic offence.

Plagiarism Checking:
All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com http://www.turnitin.com.

All instances of plagiarism will be reported to the Chair of Undergraduate Studies. Proven cases of plagiarism will result in a grade of zero for the assignment. Subsequent offences will result in failure for the course.
