mstephe9@uwo.ca

Course Date/Time: Tuesdays 6:30-9:30 pm

Antirequisites: The former English 2307E.

Prerequisites: At least 60% in 1.0 of English 1020E or English 1022E or English 1024E or English 1035E or English 1036E or English 1042E or both of English 1027F/G and English 1028F/G, or permission of the Department.

Unless you have either the requisites for this course or written special permission from your Dean to enroll in it, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. This decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites.

Course Description
By way of a selection of major works of literature in English by a number of English/British authors, this course takes you on a journey through the historical periods, genres, and forms of English/British literature - from the Old English verse of Caedmon's Hymn and Beowulf, all the way up to a comedic vision of millennial multi-cultural England in the form of Zadie Smith’s celebrated first novel White Teeth – as well as introducing you to a number of theoretical approaches to the study of literature in English. You will study lyric, epic and narrative poetry, and works of prose and drama, from the Middle Ages to the present, with attention paid to their use of literary form and structure, as well as to the works as products of the historical and cultural contexts in which they were written. The essay assignments for the course will provide you with training in literary analysis and in logical and rhetorical argumentation, and will help you to develop your grammatical and compositional skills; you will also learn how to effectively engage with and employ, in your essays, secondary works of literary criticism.

Course Objectives
Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Discuss the development of English/British literature and textual traditions across time;
- Recognize literary texts' relationship to that tradition;
- Recognize and discuss formal and rhetorical features of literary texts;
- Engage in close reading of literary texts;
- Become acquainted with some of the major theoretical approaches to English/British literature;
- Sharpen their essay writing skills;
- Learn how to properly and effectively engage in the research of secondary literary criticism, and how to properly and effectively employ such criticism in their literary essays.
Course Materials

Required Texts:

- Essay #2 (5 pages) 7.5% Due: Nov. 13
- Essay #3 (5 pages) 10% Due: Feb. 26
- Essay #4 (7-8 pages) 20% Due: April 4

Quizzes: 4 x 2.5% each = 10% (See "Quizzes")

Mid-Year Test
- 7.5% 1 hour, in class Nov. 27

Attendance and Participation
- 5% See “Attendance and Participation”

Final Exam:
- 35% See “Final Exam”
- 100%

Course Website:
The course website is available via OWL; you log on with your UWO Username and Password – the same which you use for your UWO email account. I will be posting assignments and additional course materials, and announcements and interesting and useful links, etc., to this site.

Essays (1):
The essay assignments will be posted to the course website well in advance of their due dates; I will also take up what is entailed by the assignments in class.

Quizzes:
The quizzes will be held during class on the days in question; they will be 15 minutes in length. Their purpose is to make sure that you’re keeping up with the course readings, and to make sure that you’re paying attention during lectures.

- Quiz #1: October 2
- Quiz #2: October 30
- Quiz #3: February 5
- Quiz #4: March 19

Attendance and Participation:
Attendance at the lectures is an essential and, in fact, mandatory part of the course; attendance and participation in class is a graded component of the course. This grade will be based for the most part on attendance – at the very least, you cannot participate if you do not attend class. However, participation will also be taken into account. Note also that regular absenteeism from class can result in debarment from writing the final examination, which in the Department of English results in automatic failure of the course.
In-Class Mid-Year Test:
An in-class, mid-year test will be held at the beginning of class on Monday, November 27; it will be one hour in length, and will consist of some identifications of passages, and defining of terms. It is intended to give you a taste of what to expect in the final exam for the course.

Final Exam:
The final exam will held sometime during the final exam period; the exact date will be announced during the Winter Term. You will be given notice as to the general consistency of the exam well in advance of the end of the course.

Essays (2): Late Policy, Extensions
All essays must be submitted via the course website on OWL – I will not accept hard copies of essays. Note as well that you should always keep a copy of your essay apart from the copy which you submit (i.e. save all of your essays on computer and do not delete them until after the course is over).

Essays are due on later than 11:55 p.m. on the due date. Late essays will be docked 2% per day (including weekends); no essay will be accepted any later than two weeks after its due date. Exceptions to these rules will be made only in the event of serious illness or a family emergency; official documentation will be required (see “Academic Accommodation,” below). You may also be granted an extension on a due date; however, you must contact me (not the T.A.) and arrange for the extension no later 24 hours before the due date. No extensions will be granted after that time.

Academic Accommodation:
Students seeking academic accommodation on medical grounds for any missed tests, exams, participation components and/or assignments worth 10% or more of their final grade must apply to the Academic Counselling office of their home Faculty and provide documentation. Academic accommodation cannot be granted by the instructor or department. Documentation shall be submitted, as soon as possible, to the Office of the Dean of the student’s Faculty of registration, together with a request for relief specifying the nature of the accommodation being requested. The UWO Policy on Accommodation for Medical Illness and further information regarding this policy can be found at http://uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/accommodation_medical.pdf.

Downloadable Student Medical Certificate (SMC):
http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/medicalform.pdf

Rewrite Option:
With my permission, you may rewrite one essay from the first term (either essay #1 or #2) to improve your mark. The revised essay must be handed in no later than two weeks after the original essay is returned, and it may receive a maximum grade of 65%.

Plagiarism:
Be advised that the unacknowledged use of another person’s writing or ideas is a serious academic offence and will result, at the very least, in a zero for the assignment. For further information, see the Scholastic Offence Policy in the Western Academic Calendar - http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf

In short, do not engage in plagiarism: you will be caught.
Use of Laptops and Phones in Class – Classroom Etiquette:
Laptop use is permitted in lectures; however, they must be used for the purpose of taking notes only (or other course related activity). Anyone who employs their laptop for other purposes will be asked to leave the class. Be sure, also, to turn off your ringers before coming to class.

Furthermore, if there are any disruptions to the class, and in particular, to my concentration when lecturing, due to excessive talking/whispering, passing of notes, etc., those persons involved will be asked to leave the class.

Timetable
Page #s refer to the corresponding volume of The Norton, and are not accurate at the present; a revised version of the syllabus, with accurate page numbers, will be made available before classes begin.

“Website” means the text is available via the course website; it will be uploaded to the site no later than a week before the reading date.

The dates given are the dates by which the reading in question is to be done (i.e. you should have finished the reading in question before coming to class); you should be sure to bring the volume in question/the text to class with you.

There will also be some additional short readings of secondary, research materials; what these are, and when you will be expected to read them by, will be announced in class, and on the course website; the readings themselves will be posted to the course website.

Finally, this course schedule (including due dates for quizzes and assignments, etc., listed above and below) is subject to change with sufficient advance notice.

FALL TERM

Week 1
Sept. 11: Introduction to the course; British? English? – and the Periods of British/English Language/Literature; Caedmon’s “Hymn”

Readings: Intro to Volume A, “The Middle Ages to ca. 1485” (A 3) – including “Medieval English,” 19-24 (but skim this), and “Old and Middle English Prosody,” 24-25 (pay more attention to this); “Bede and Caedmon’s Hymn” (A 29-32), paying particular attention to the Hymn itself

Academic Offences
Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf

Plagiarism:
Students must write their essays and assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea or passage from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major academic offence.

Plagiarism Checking:
All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com http://www.turnitin.com.

All instances of plagiarism will be reported to the Chair of Undergraduate Studies. Proven cases of plagiarism will result in a grade of zero for the assignment. Subsequent offences will result in failure for the course.
