Clinical Supervisor in Speech-Language Pathology
School of Communication Sciences and Disorders
55% of Full-Time hours

The School of Communication Sciences and Disorders (CSD) of the Faculty of Health Sciences at Western University invites applications for a two-year (potential for renewal) Limited-Term faculty position (55% of Full-time hours) at the rank of Lecturer or Assistant Professor. This academic position will serve the role of Clinical Supervisor in Speech-Language Pathology (SLP). Duties include conducting student practicum education, training, and supervision in SLP, being a mentor to students for clinical education and training, carrying a general caseload of assessment and treatment of communication disorders in children and/or adults, teaching clinical aspects of SLP, managing clinical resources, completing administrative duties associated with clinical practicum, and undertaking service within the School and Faculty.

Candidates must hold at least a Master's degree in SLP and currently hold, or hold by time of appointment, licensure by the College of Audiologists and Speech-Language Pathologists of Ontario. Essential qualities of applicants include experience supervising students, strong interpersonal, collaborative, and organizational skills, and current knowledge of professional practice guidelines and standards. Rank and salary will be commensurate with the applicant’s qualifications and experience. Preference will be given to candidates with at least three years of professional experience in SLP, as well as experience in speech and/or voice disorders. The successful candidate will also have a demonstrated capacity to contribute substantively to an inclusive and diverse academic community.

The School of CSD offers Master of Clinical Science degrees in Audiology and SLP and participates in the Graduate Programs of Health and Rehabilitation Sciences (HRS). The HRS Program was the first in Canada to host a combined clinical-research degree (i.e., MCiSc-PhD) in Speech and Language Sciences. The School maintains the research-oriented H.A. Leeper Speech and Hearing Clinic, which includes the provincially funded tykeTALK and Infant Hearing Programs. Within the Clinic, specialized clinical SLP services include preschool speech and language disorders, speech and language disorders in school-age children, and adult and adolescent voice, fluency, and acquired neurogenic communication disorders and Audiology services include infant assessment and assistive device fitting, pediatric amplification, aural rehabilitation, and geriatrics. The School houses PRECiSeWestern: Practice-Based Research Collaborative In Speech-Language Pathology - a Research Group committed to engaging in practice-based research with clinical partners in SLP and related fields. The Faculty of Health Sciences is also home to the internationally acclaimed National Centre for Audiology, a major hearing health care research facility.
