

FACULTY POSITION
Assistant Professor
School of Kinesiology

Neuromechanical or Sensorimotor Control of Human Movement

The School of Kinesiology in the Faculty of Health Sciences at Western University promotes the benefits of physical activity and sport to society by providing a multidisciplinary approach to discovery, dissemination, and application of related knowledge and outcomes. The School of Kinesiology is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together. We work towards constructing a dynamic, supportive space that integrates principles of equity, diversity, inclusion, decolonization, and accessibility among all members. Kinesiology is home to the International Centre for Olympic Studies (including Paralympic Studies), and the Sport and Social Impact Research Group. Kinesiology at Western is ranked 26th in the world for Sport Related Subjects (QS 2023). The School of Kinesiology champions three research clusters focusing on Physical Activity and 1) Brain Health, 2) Mobility, and 3) Social Impact with strong links to Faculty Research Centres in Activity and Aging, and Health Equity and Social Inclusion.

We are seeking a Probationary (tenure-track) faculty colleague at the rank of Assistant Professor in the area of the neuromechanical and/or sensorimotor control of human movement. The overarching emphasis for this position is a candidate with a primary research interest in how the human nervous system controls and executes interactions with the environment. The successful candidate will contribute to the vision of the School to be a global leader in inclusive excellence in research and education through a multidisciplinary approach to Kinesiology. The successful candidate will be expected to teach existing courses while also developing new courses in the School that extends the curriculum and will also be expected to supervise graduate students. The ideal candidate will be an innovative thinker who has experience in interdisciplinary environments, demonstrated potential for excellence in research, with a strong potential to secure external research funding and produce high quality scholarly/creative outputs aligned with one or more of the Faculty of Health Sciences Research Centres/Groups.

The School of Kinesiology is committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion in research, teaching, and service. The successful candidate will contribute to the ongoing work that considers how intersecting relationships of power shape individuals, groups, cultures, and ways of knowing. Their teaching and research will demonstrate potential for meaningful engagement with, and be inclusive of, students from equity-deserving communities. The successful candidate will also be expected to participate in relevant service to the School of Kinesiology, Faculty of Health Sciences, and the University, and have a demonstrated capacity to contribute substantively to an inclusive and diverse academic community.

Candidates must hold a PhD in Kinesiology, or a related field, by the start date of the appointment. Post-doctoral training/experience will be considered an asset. The impact of certain circumstances that may legitimately affect a candidate's teaching and research will be given careful consideration. Candidates are encouraged to provide any relevant information about their experience and/or career interruptions.

The effective date of the appointment is July 1, 2024, or as negotiated. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Western University delivers an academic experience second to none. Western challenges the best and brightest faculty, staff, and students to commit to the highest global standards. Our research excellence expands knowledge and drives discovery with real-world application. Western attracts individuals with a broad worldview, seeking to study, influence, and lead in the international community. Since 1878, The Western Experience has combined academic excellence with life-long opportunities for intellectual, social, and cultural growth in order to better serve our communities.

Interested applicants are invited to submit a complete application package, as a single PDF file, containing the following:

- Application for Full-Time Faculty Position form
- Cover letter that outlines their research interest and qualifications for the role, and a statement on Equity, Diversity, Inclusion, Decolonization, and Accessibility in relation to their academic activities
- Curriculum vitae
- Teaching dossier
- Names and contact information of three academic referees

The application package can be submitted via email to:
