

Faculty Position - Probationary (tenure-track) Assistant Professor Department of Geography and Environment

The Department of Geography & Environment at The University of Western Ontario (Western) invites applications for a full-time faculty position in the area of Urban Geography at the rank of Assistant Professor (Probationary Tenure-track), effective January 1, 2023, or as negotiated. Salary and rank will be commensurate with experience.

Western recognizes that our commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion is central to the University's mandate as a research-intensive institution of higher learning and a community leader and understands that our pursuit of research excellence and our commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion are mutually supporting. All applicants to this hiring opportunity must self-identify as a woman. This applicant self-identification information will be used for the purposes of screening and consideration. This particular search process follows the provisions for a special program as described in Section 14 of the Ontario Human Rights Commission in order to address underrepresentation among our faculty complement.

The Department of Geography and Environment at Western University is seeking applicants for a tenure-track position in Urban Geography. We seek a Geographer with expertise in sustainable urban development and/or resilient cities whose research program on urban environments recognizes the importance of cities within the global context. Research themes that address pressing and future development issues of cities and that fit with Departmental research themes such as: smart cities, urban environmental justice, and climate change in cities are encouraged. The successful candidate will contribute to graduate level urban studies and to teaching in the undergraduate Urban Development Program. The ability to link research results to policy and an ability to contribute to experiential learning activities are viewed as assets.

A successful candidate will demonstrate the ability to contribute to Faculty or University initiatives such as the Centre for Urban Policy and Local Governance, The Western Centre for Climate Change, Sustainable Livelihoods and Health, or other centres included as part of the Network for Economic and Social Trends (NEST).

Applicants for this probationary (tenure-track) appointment must: hold a PhD degree in Geography or a related discipline by time of appointment; demonstrate excellence or potential for excellence in research through a record of internationally recognized publications in leading journals and have the ability or potential to develop and conduct innovative externally funded research; provide evidence of a strong record of teaching at the university level; and have excellent oral and written communication skills.

The Department of Geography and Environment is a research-intensive department with an integrated approach to our four fields of research: Urban Studies; Environment, Development and Health; Physical Geography; and Geographic Information Science. These support doctoral- and masters-level graduate programs with an enrolment of approximately 75 graduate students. At the undergraduate level, we offer both BA and BSc degrees, including a unique Urban Development

Program, along with a number of majors related to our research areas, including Climate Change and Society, and Environment and Health. The Department has identified urban environments as an overarching research theme and is a designated ESRI Canada Centre of Excellence.

With annual research funding exceeding $220 million, and an international reputation for success, Western ranks as one of Canada's top research-intensive universities. Our research excellence expands knowledge and drives discovery with real-world application. Western also provides an exceptional employment experience, offering competitive salaries, a wide range of employment opportunities and one of Canada's most beautiful campuses.

An application must include the following submitted as a single document: (1) Application for Full-Time Faculty Position form; (2) Cover letter addressing how the candidate's expertise fits this position and complements existing strengths in the department; (3) Curriculum Vitae; (4) Research Statement specifying plans for research at Western (up to 2 pages); (5) Teaching Statement (up to 2 pages) summarizing teaching and mentoring experience, evidence of teaching effectiveness, areas of teaching expertise and plans for teaching and training at Western; and (6) names, institutional affiliations and contact information (including email addresses) for three academic referees. Applications should be emailed to:
