DAN Department of Management & Organizational Studies

Assistant Professor in Accounting

The DAN Department of Management & Organizational Studies invites applications for a probationary (tenure track) appointment in Accounting. The successful candidate will have demonstrated academic excellence based on productivity and impact in research in the area of accounting, or a big data approach to management information systems with a relevance to accounting, and will be appointed to a probationary (tenure track) position at the rank of Assistant Professor. Salary will be commensurate with previous performance, qualifications and experience in accordance with the Collective Agreement. The appointment is effective July 1, 2022, or as negotiated.

DAN Management & Organizational Studies has an interdisciplinary ethos and aims to make a real difference in improving lives and providing a new generation of business leaders. DAN is highly academically selective, attracting the very best students from across Canada and around the world. Further information may be found on our website: <http://www.dan.uwo.ca>. Candidates must possess a PhD in Accounting, Management Information Systems or a cognate discipline, and present research interests that should align with the broad study of accounting or a big data approach to management information systems with a relevance to accounting. For more information on the specific research topics currently addressed by DAN Management faculty, please see our website.

Candidates considered for a probationary (tenure-track) appointment must have a superior academic record and a demonstrated record of record of international standard scholarly research and publications in leading refereed journals, and evidence of excellent teaching ability. The successful candidate will be expected to maintain a strong research program including publishing in leading journals accounting or big data, successfully competing for research funding, teaching courses in areas such as accounting, taxation, management information systems for accountants and cognate fields, and contributing to ongoing curriculum and program development.
