The Schulich School of Medicine & Dentistry, Western University invites applications for an open appointment (probationary or tenured) at the rank of Assistant, Associate or Professor, in the area of Health Systems Organization and Leadership, effective July 1, 2013.

The successful candidate will join the inaugural faculty of the Schulich Interfaculty Program in Public Health and have the exciting opportunity to shape a new signature Master of Public Health (MPH) Program in which they will teach. The MPH Program will attract students who are aspiring leaders and change agents aiming to shape the future of public health.

This MPH has been designed to meet international accreditation standards (Council on Education for Public Health). The first cohort of students begins their 12 month program in September 2013 in a new, state-of-the-art building, The Western Centre for Public Health and Family Medicine. A unique offering in its use of case based learning, this interdisciplinary program will offer leaders the knowledge and skills to transform public health and healthcare in Canada and globally. Hosted by Schulich School of Medicine & Dentistry, the program is supported by interdisciplinary links to the Faculties of Education, Engineering, Information & Media Studies, Health Sciences, Law, Science, Social Science, the Richard Ivey School of Business, and Brescia University College.

We welcome applicants with an MD, MD/PhD, PhD or DDS from a range of disciplinary backgrounds, including but not limited to: Business Administration, Health Sciences Management Health Services, Systems or Policy Research, Health Care Administration, Public Health, and Primary Care. Applicants must demonstrate an exemplary teaching record and enthusiasm for teaching at the graduate level. Preference will be given to candidates who have previous experience in case base teaching methods and a proven record of research in transforming health care and cross sectoral and interdisciplinary research and partnership.

The position entails graduate teaching in public health leadership, including the capstone course of the Master of Public Health program, Transforming Public Health, practicum supervision, coordination of integrative workshops and curriculum development. As graduate public health programs at Western grow, the candidate will be part of the team developing new educational and research programs.

The Schulich School of Medicine & Dentistry at Western University delivers an academic experience second to none. Beginning with the founding of the medical school in 1881 and the dental school in 1964, our reputation has been built on dedicated teaching, breakthrough discoveries, a commitment to social responsibility and real world impact. Schulich Medicine & Dentistry is a leading Canadian centre of outstanding education and research, preparing tomorrow’s dentists, physicians and health researchers to become leaders in optimizing life-long health.

Review of applications will begin May 6, 2013, and applications will be accepted until the position has been filled. Candidates are invited to submit a letter of interest, a detailed curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, a summary of your program of research and future research plans, as well as three references to:
This position is subject to budget approval. Applicants should have fluent written and oral communication skills in English. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. The Schulich School of Medicine & Dentistry and Western University are committed to employment equity and welcomes applications from all qualified women and men, including visible minorities, aboriginal people and persons with disabilities.