FOUNDATIONS OF NURSING PRACTICE
N1200

Calendar Description:
This course provides an introduction to the theoretical, philosophical and ethical tenets of the nursing profession. Students are introduced to the history, image and framework of nursing practice, self-regulation, nursing organizations, self-awareness and emotional intelligence, the nurse-client relationship, professional communication, and interprofessional collaboration.

Expanded Course Description:
This course focuses on nursing students’ beginning understanding of health, the health care system and healthy public policy. Students will reflect on how individual values, beliefs, perceptions, and experiences impact relationships with self, clients, and colleagues.

The development of the nursing profession, contributions of nurse theorists, and roles of nurses and locations of nursing practice will be explored. The provision of person-centred collaborative care, caring through relational practice, development of therapeutic relationships, therapeutic communication, and strengths-based nursing care will be carefully examined.

The concepts of ways of knowing in nursing, clinical judgment, critical thinking, and self-reflection will be utilized to help students understand the application of knowing in nursing.

Course Goals:

1. To describe the evolution of professional nursing practice including the legislative framework of practice.

2. To develop an understanding of how health and health care are structured in Canada, and the implications to the profession of nursing.

3. To realize the importance of self-awareness, self-reflection, and accountability to professional nursing practice.

4. To understand how strengths-based nursing as a philosophy and values-driven approach to relational nursing practice.

5. To begin to develop critical thinking and reflective practice competencies for nursing practice.

6. To understand the role of the nurse within an interprofessional collaborative team.

7. To understand the relevance of nursing professional competencies, interprofessional competencies, and ethical standards as they apply to nursing practice.
8. To develop effective and caring interprofessional communication skills.

How this Course will contribute to your development as a Professional Nurse

The nursing literature supports the view that an individual needs to come to know the self through reflection and introspection before being open to knowing and relating to others. This course will assist you in developing self-awareness. Included in each learning activity is a section called “In Reflection”. You are asked to reflect on the class topic to enhance your comprehension of material covered in class.

The development of therapeutic communication techniques is essential to relate to clients, families, and colleagues. Many beginning nursing students believe that they already possess these attributes. However, there is a significant difference between conversing with family and friends and engaging in conversation that is therapeutic to the client.

The knowledge gained in this course is important in all aspects of nursing practice and will help prepare you for professional practice encounters with clients. You will examine various techniques nurses use in practice to guide their thinking and acting. This course will assist you in developing your professional self by exploring the evolution of nursing practice to current nurses’ roles within an interprofessional health care team.

How this Course will contribute to your development as an Interprofessional Team Member

You will begin to develop skill and comfort when interacting with clients, families, and colleagues. The knowledge, skills, and attitudes that you acquire in this course will provide you with a greater understanding of your role as a nurse working with other team members. You will realize the importance of client and family involvement with members of the health care team. As well, you will recognize that when team members work together there is a combined benefit for their clients.

How We Will Work Together

The creation of a caring community within the classroom setting, which will also positively affect your interactions outside of the classroom, is extremely important. Professors will serve in the role of facilitator to assist you to reach your goals. Group activities are a common teaching approach to provoke discussion of course concepts, to assist you in self-reflection, and to develop skill in knowing others. You are encouraged to bring electronic devices to class that will facilitate access to resources for group work completed in class.

PLEASE NOTE:
Students and faculty are required to read the Undergraduate BScN Programs Manual and be familiar with its contents. The Program Manual is available on OWL in the Undergraduate Student Information (https://owl.uwo.ca).
Policies
All policies related to assignments are in the Undergraduate BScN Programs Manual on the Western web site at owl.uwo.ca. Please read the policies on Accommodation for Medical Illness-Undergraduate Students and Student Medical Certificate.

Scholarly Requirements
In this program, scholarly writing is a requirement. Therefore, all scholarly papers will follow the sixth edition of the Publication manual of the American Psychological Association (2010), which includes guidelines for both content and format. In addition, all other writing will follow APA (6th ed.) format when citing or referring to an author’s work or ideas. Failure to do so is unethical and is plagiarism.

Plagiarism
Student work is expected to be original. Plagiarism is a serious academic offence and could lead to expulsion from the nursing program. You are plagiarizing if you insert a phrase, sentence or paragraph taken directly from another author without acknowledging the work to belong to him/her. Similarly, you are plagiarizing if you paraphrase or summarize another author’s ideas without acknowledging that the ideas belong to someone else. You are self-plagiarizing when you reuse all or part of an assignment that you previously submitted. Students can not present their credited work as new scholarship. You may be asked to submit your work, at the discretion of the course instructor, to turnitin.com to verify originality (see Scholastic Offence Policy in the Western Academic Calendar). http://www.westerncalendar.uwo.ca/2013/print_pg113.html#

Assignments and Exams
Please refer to the following site specific link for information on penalties for late assignments, re-grading of assignments, and the protocol for missed mid-term or final exams: Undergraduate BScN Programs Manual for Westerns academic guidelines owl.uwo.ca.

Electronic Devices
Electronic devices are useful in assisting with the teaching/learning process in both classroom and professional practice settings. In the classroom or praxis setting, devices should be used in a manner that is not distracting to others or oneself.

Attendance
Due to the significance of theoretical and practice knowledge in developing professional competence, students are expected to demonstrate professional responsibility through regular attendance at, and, participation in all scheduled learning activities. Much of the learning that takes place is a result of preparation and engagement with the material and active dialogue with colleagues and faculty.

Mental Health
Students who are in emotional/mental distress should refer to the following links for a complete list of options about how to obtain help. MentalHealth @Western http://uwo.ca/health/mental_wellbeing
Student Safety

Please refer to the Undergraduate BScN Programs Manual section on Student Safety Concerns: Guidelines for Responding in the Practice Setting Environment and the Student Safety Flow Chart found on the Undergraduate Programs site at owl.uwo.ca.

Learning Skills Services

The Student Development Centre at Western provides free support for all students to strengthen their skills and improve or maintain their academic performance. The focus is on helping students learn and study more effectively so that they can achieve their academic goals. You can find out more about this service at www.sdc.uwo.ca/learning.
