Course Description and Objectives:

In Girl Power: Girls Redefining Girlhood, Dawn H. Currie, Deirdre M. Kelly, and Shauna Pomerantz point to the fact that “until recently, girlhood has been ‘the other’ of feminism’s womanhood: girlhood was defined negatively, against womanhood” in ways that present adult femininity as the successful abandonment of young or adolescent womanhood (4). Currie, Kelly, and Pomerantz’s thesis holds that girls in Western civilization at the turn of the twenty-first century are “reinventing” girlhood to suit their own ideas and desires.

In this course, we will consider what it means to be a girl and how the concepts of girl and girlhood have been constructed across a variety of geographic and historical contexts, as well as how the intersections of race, class, gender, and ability have influenced these concepts. Drawing on a variety of disciplines, including literature, history, we specifically consider girlhood through a feminist lens and examine how definitions of girl and girlhood shape individual experience, historical narratives, cultural representations, and futures. Topics may include the commercialization of girlhood, popular culture and girls, negotiating identities, violence, sexualities, agency and activism in a globalizing world, and categories of difference, among other topics. We will also consider the fields of Women’s Studies and Gender Studies have contributed to and shaped Girlhood Studies.

Throughout the semester, in addition to gaining and sharing knowledge through the assigned readings, assignments, and discussions, you will

- develop a perspective on the growing field of Girlhood Studies paying particular attention to the issues facing women today, both locally and globally;
- understand how girls are represented in disciplines such as philosophy, literature, science, as well as in popular culture and media;
- consider how gender operates as a site of social and political control for girls and children;
- connect Girlhood Studies to Women’s and Gender Studies;
- consider girlhood from an intersectional perspective; and
- understand how gender and girlhood are socially constructed.

In addition, it will help students to

- apply rigorous critical thinking and analysis by engaging productively with new ideas;
- apply theory to field of girlhood studies;

- research, assess, and synthesize information;
- and locate, evaluate, and critique sources using appropriate disciplinary and/or interdisciplinary research skills and tools.

Discussion Guidelines

We will cover a variety of topics pertaining to girls and girlhood in the class, including, but not limited to, race, class, gender, and sexuality. Some of the materials we will consider may include topics that may be difficult to read about and to discuss. Ensure you are comfortable discussing this potentially sensitive material. Additionally, this class is a space in which students are free to express their views, to pose questions, or to raise issues without reprisal.

Term Work

|-------------------------------|-----|
| Class Forum and Participation | 10% |
| I-search Essay | 15% |
| Quiz 1 | 15% |
| Quiz 2 | 15% |
| Quiz 3 | 20% |
| Research Paper | 25% |

Class Forum: In my opinion, the most successful college classrooms have students and instructors equally engaged in a discussion about the readings. Throughout the term, you will be asked to respond to specific readings and to comment on your classmates' responses. Specific information will be posted in the Forum section of our course site on OWL.

The timeliness and quality of your discussion questions form one part of your overall participation grade for the year. Participation also includes reading each day's assignment, making insightful comments during discussion, and actively listening. I reserve the right to give reading quizzes as a part of the participation grade if it seems necessary (i.e., if class members do not keep up with the readings). No single portion (participation, reading posts, etc.) determines your participation grade.

I-search Essay: For this assignment, you will develop a research question, complete research, and write an essay that details your research process. You will receive detailed directions several weeks before the assignment is due.

Quizzes: You will take three quizzes during the course of the semester. Two quizzes will be given during class, and the third will be administered during the final exam period. You will receive detailed information regarding quizzes at least one week before the quiz.

Research Paper: You will complete a Research Paper, addressing the research question you developed in your I-search essay. You will receive detailed directions several weeks before either assignment is due.

Course Policies

Submitting Assignments: All assignments are due in-class on the date stated on the class schedule. You are expected to turn in both a hard copy of the assignment as well as to submit an electronic version to Turnitin.com (see below).

Late assignments will not be accepted under any circumstances. It is your responsibility to submit assignments on time. Should you need an extension for any reason, please contact me by email at least 48 hours prior to the day an assignment is due to discuss an extension. Extensions may be granted for writing assignments, but not for blog posts or blog comments. If you have a medical or personal emergency notify me as soon as possible to request an extension. In-class assignments cannot be made up unless the absence is excused.

Missed tests or exams: an absence during a text or an exam will earn a “0” on the assignment, unless you have medical or compassionate grounds for accommodation. In such circumstances, you need to see the Academic Counselor in the Dean’s office of the Faculty in which you are registered. Please note that I am not permitted to receive medical/doctors’ notes or other confidential documentation; again, such documentation must be submitted directly by students to the Dean’s office. Please see the University’s Policy on Accommodation for Medical Illness at: <https://studentservices.uwo.ca/secure/index.cfm>.

Turnitin.com: "All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement currently between the University and Turnitin.com (<http://www.turnitin.com>." (<http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/exam/crsout.pdf>)

Scholastic Offences: “Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at the following Web site: <http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/appeals/scholoff.pdf>.”(see <http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/exam/crsout.pdf>)

Plagiarism constitutes an automatic failure of this course and goes on a student’s permanent record of conduct. If you have any questions about what constitutes plagiarism, please contact me.

The following is a statement on plagiarism, which has been mandated by the UWO Senate: “Students must write their essays and assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea, or a passage of text from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major academic offense (see Scholastic Offense Policy in the Western Academic Calendar). Plagiarism checking: The University of Western Ontario uses software for plagiarism checking. Students may be required to submit their work in electronic form for plagiarism checking.”

You cannot submit assignments in WS 2225F completed for other courses, including other Women’s Studies courses.

Electronic Devices: You may use a computer in class to take notes. Do not use class time for anything other than academic purposes. You may not use a cell phone or similar electronic device in class at any time. Should you, for any reason, need to receive a phone call during class time, I ask that you keep your phone on vibrate and step out of the classroom to receive the call. If computers become distracting, I reserve the right to limit the use of computers.

No electronic devices are permitted during quizzes.

Owl/Sakai: Use of Owl/Sakai is necessary for successful completion of this course. This including accessing readings as stipulated in the course outline, downloading instructions and guidelines for assignments, and submitting assignments to Turnitin.com. All course information, including assignments, will be posted on the course website. Go to owl.uwo.ca.

Medical Illness Policy: "Students seeking academic accommodation on medical grounds for any missed tests, exams, participation components and/or assignments worth 10% or more of their final grade must apply to the Academic Counseling office of their home Faculty and provide documentation. Academic accommodation cannot be granted by the instructor or department. For UWO Policy on Accommodation for Medical Illness see: <http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/appeals/medical.pdf>."

Students who miss work due to a medical illness will need to provide me with documentation regarding their illness; we will then devise a new schedule for assignments that we both agree upon.

Please note: if you require an extension due to a medical illness, you must notify me that you are seeking an extension through the Academic Counseling Office and work out a revised due date with me. You simply need to email me to tell me you have requested an extension, and we will select a new due date together.

Students who are in emotional/mental distress should refer to MentalHealth@Western: <http://www.uwo.ca/uwocom/mentalhealth/> for a complete list of options about how to obtain help.
