OBTAINING A STUDY PERMIT

- You can apply for this permit online
- Do this well in advance since processing times might be long for some countries. Current typical processing times are 6–12 weeks; aim to apply at least 3–4 months before your start date. Track your application status through the IRCC online portal (canada.ca/ircc).
- In order to apply for this permit you will need many documents... so plan ahead.
- Note that if you're planning to come to Canada with your spouse or children, you can submit your applications at the same time

ONCE IN CANADA - HEALTH

- You health insurance (UHIP) will be included in your tuition.
- Coverage: It covers basic health care services but does not cover other services that you might require, so keep that in mind.
- You can book an appointment at Health & Wellness Services at Western: call (519) 661-3030 or book online at uwo.ca/health.
- Grad students also receive SOGS extended coverage: prescriptions, dental, vision and physiotherapy.

ONCE IN CANADA - TAXES

- Oh, yes! Doing taxes will be part of your Canadian experience.
- Once a year, at the end of February, you will receive your tax forms. The deadline to file your taxes is April 30.
- Filing your taxes is NOT optional. It is required by law.
- Don't worry, though! You will get as much help as you need.
- Since it is your first time filing taxes you are highly encouraged to seek assistance

ONCE IN CANADA - TAXES

- Western offers a USC Income Tax Clinic for free to help you in this endeavor.
 - Volunteers are CRA-authorized and trained — returns are submitted electronically. The International & Exchange Student Centre (IESC) also runs a dedicated free tax clinic for international students each March.
- Many companies offer special prices for students. A popular one among students is H & R Block.

CAREFUL!

- Note that these are obligatory steps
- However, depending on your specific case, you might be required to do more paperwork.
- In any case, be sure to read things carefully, follow the steps appropriately and ask for as many clarifications as you find necessary

CAREFUL!

- When in doubt about how to proceed or what to do, ask the person or organization in charge (i.e. the embassy, the city hall).
- Do not rely on anybody else (i.e. another student who has been through the same). Procedures might have changed from previous years

GOOD!

- It seems that you are ready to come to London already but...what you will do when you get here?
- Join us with the next presentation to see some good ideas of how to spend your first days in London!
