

Hello all!

Western's Minorities and Philosophy (MAP) Chapter would like to invite you to a discussion workshop with Dr. Meena Krishnamurthy (Queens) on diversity and philosophy. The workshop, titled "Everything You've ever wanted to know about Diversity and Philosophy", will be hosted on November 15th, 11AM – 12PM, in Stevenson Hall room 2150 (the large seminar room in the philosophy lounge). Please see the attached poster for details. Everyone is welcome to attend!

We ask that you come prepared with questions you have regarding the broad theme: diversity and philosophy. Below are some sample questions:

- What is public philosophy, what is the role of public philosophy; how to do it well as an under/graduate student?
- Why and how we should be decolonizing philosophy?
- Surviving and thriving in grad school / how to navigate philosophy as a minority in philosophy?

Other questions are welcome! If you have a question you would like to ask anonymously, please feel free to email a MAP representative and/or write the question down and drop it off at the MAP office (STVH 2131), including a note that it is for this event. We hope that the event will stir thoughtful, respectful, and friendly discussions about diversity in our discipline.

Check out the event on Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/events/443470299610373/> and like/share our MAP Chapter's page if you haven't already!

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to get in touch with our MAP chapter reps.

Best,

MAP Chapter Reps

Aubrie Schettler, Heather Stewart, Nicole Fice, and Carolyn McLeod
