

Isaacs W 2:30-5:30

Collective Responsibility

A study of the evolution of philosophical theorizing about collective responsibility and collective obligation. The course will include consideration of how these concepts might interact with social justice issues (such as structural discrimination/oppression) and other contemporary issues of urgent political concern (such as climate change and food ethics).