LAND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

With the The Department of Gender, Sexuality and Women's Studies, I acknowledge that Western University is located on the traditional lands of the Anishinaabek, Haudenosaunee, Lūnaapéewak, and Neutral peoples, on lands connected to several Treaties including Treaty 6 London Township, Treaty 7 Sombra Township, Treaty 21 Longwoods and the Dish with One Spoon Covenant Wampum. This place continues to be home to diverse Indigenous peoples who are recognized as contemporary stewards of the land and vital contributors to society.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Feminist phenomenology is rooted in the study of lived experience. As theory and methodology, it begins with everyday lived experiences which are understood from within a matrix of social, political and institutional forces and structures. We will learn how to make sense of our everyday lives from a feminist critical perspective. For example, the #Me Too movement follows in the tradition of naming and bringing to light that is inherent to feminist phenomenology. Bringing the phenomena (lived experience) to light through description, artworks and literature allows us to analyze how experience is shaped by forces beyond the individual, which can also work to shift the experiences themselves. In this course we will consider some key texts coming out of this tradition, including works by thinkers such as Sara Ahmed, bell hooks, Simone de Beauvoir, Judith Butler, Linda Martín Alcoff, and Mariana Ortega.

We will consider how phenomenology has been taken up in queer, trans*, decolonial and critical disability theories.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

To be able to articulate embodied ways of theorizing

To develop further feminist experience-based methodologies

To understand what it means to subvert mind/body dualism

To be able to articulate more clearly the interrelatedness of all beings

COURSE TEXTS

All readings are accessible through OWL Brightspace.
