

SCHOLARSHIPS/AWARDS/PRIZES

FOR INFORMATION

1. New Awards and Scholarships

The following have been approved by the Property and Finance Committee on behalf of the Board of Governors:

London Life Actuarial Career Scholarship, Three Year Continuing (Faculty of Science, Statistical and Actuarial Sciences)

Awarded annually to one student in second year who is pursuing an Honors Specialization in Actuarial Science and has achieved high academic standing (80% or greater), displays leadership abilities and skills as described below, and is committed to participating in a total of 8 months of work experience with London Life during the summer terms following both second and third years. Candidates must be Canadian citizens or permanent residents eligible for employment in Canada. Work terms generally will be in London, Ontario, but opportunities may be available in Toronto or Winnipeg at the request of the recipient depending on availability. Recipients will be paid at standard rates for the student actuarial pool within London Life's organization for each work term, exclusive of the scholarship.

The successful recipient will have demonstrated leadership abilities through participation in school assignments or extra-curricular activities such as sports, volunteer activities or experience through employment. Leadership skills may include initiative, goal setting, outcome achievement, decision making and problem solving, interpersonal skills and team work, persuasiveness, and verbal and written communication skills. Examples of leadership can include successfully driving issues to closure, influencing others, and resolving issues among peers or team members using communication, decision-making and problem-solving skills.

Selection of the recipient will be made by a committee of the Department of Statistical and Actuarial Sciences. A member of the Department of Statistical and Actuarial Sciences who has industry experience and insight into the leadership qualities required to excel in an actuarial science work environment will participate in the selection process.

Applications may be obtained from the Department and should be submitted by October 31. A one-page statement must be included describing the candidate's leadership abilities, skills and examples as described above, in addition to discussing his or her interest in a career in actuarial science and commitment to summer employment with London Life. The recipient will be notified of selection by November 30.

A new recipient will be selected each year. Recipients will continue to receive the scholarship in their third year, provided they participate in summer employment with London Life after second year. Recipients will continue to receive the scholarship in their fourth year, provided they participate in summer employment with London Life after third year, or apply separately and are accepted into the Science Internship Program with London Life. In each year, recipients must maintain an 80% average on a full courseload to remain eligible for the scholarship. The Department will be responsible for confirming to the Office of the Registrar by September 15 that the recipients have met the employment criteria for renewal.

Value: $5,000 for each of three years for a total of $15,000 per recipient
Effective: 2008-2009, with the last new recipient in the 2010-2011 academic year

London Life Actuarial Career Scholarships, Two Year Continuing (Faculty of Science, Statistical and Actuarial Sciences)

Awarded annually to two students in third year who are pursuing an Honors Specialization in Actuarial Science and have achieved high academic standing (80% or greater), display leadership abilities and skills as described below, and are committed to participating in a four-month work experience with London Life following third year. Recipients of the Three-Year London Life Actuarial Career Scholarship are not eligible. Candidates must be Canadian citizens or permanent residents eligible for employment in Canada. The work term generally will be in London, Ontario, but opportunities may be available in Toronto or Winnipeg at the request of the recipient, depending on availability. Recipients will be paid at standard rates for the student actuarial pool within London Life's organization for the work term, exclusive of the scholarship.

The successful recipients will have demonstrated leadership abilities through participation in school assignments or extra-curricular activities, such as sports, volunteer activities or experience through employment. Leadership skills may include initiative, goal setting, outcome achievement, decision making and problem solving, interpersonal skills and team work, persuasiveness, and verbal and written communication skills. Examples of leadership can include successfully driving issues to closure, influencing others, and resolving issues among peers or team members using communication, decision-making and problem-solving skills.

Selection of recipients will be made by a committee of the Department of Statistical and Actuarial Sciences. A member of the Department of Statistical and Actuarial Sciences who has industry experience and insights into the leadership qualities required to excel in an actuarial science work environment will participate in the selection process.

Applications may be obtained from the Department and should be submitted by October 31. A one-page statement must be included describing the candidate's leadership abilities, skills and examples as described above, in addition to discussing his or her interest in a career in actuarial science and commitment to summer employment with London Life. Recipients will be notified of selection by November 30.

Two new recipients will be selected each year. Recipients will continue to receive the scholarship in their fourth year, provided they maintain an 80% average on a full courseload and participate in summer employment with London Life after third year, or apply separately and are accepted into the Science Internship Program with London Life. The Department will be responsible for confirming to the Office of the Registrar by September 15 that recipients have met the employment criteria for renewal.
