

ADMISSION FRAUD

If evidence of falsified information and/or omission is found in the submission of an application for admission, any documentation in support of an application, and/or an appeal for admission or readmission, Western University reserves the right to deny admission, withdraw an offer of admission, withdraw an offer of scholarship and/or cancel a student's course registration. Previous submission of falsified or fraudulent documentation may be considered in future applications made to Western University.
