BARKHOUSE, Zachary – Physiology and Pharmacology

My name is Zachary Barkhouse and I am a third-year student specializing in Physiology and Pharmacology. From my past experience on both Science Students Council and the Science Soph team, I have become personally aware of various academic policies that need to be changed. By talking to students directly, we can help refine these academic policies so that they work for students now and in the future. As senator, I will work tirelessly to improve policies to better enhance the Western student experience. Support me for senator and I promise I will help make our academic policies work for you!

GARABEDIAN, Mark - Neuroscience

Hey! My name is Mark Garabedian and I am currently studying neuroscience. I am running for Schulich Senator because I believe I can make a positive impact at Western. As the academic decision-making body, the Senate affects the life of every student. Of course, the real change comes from YOU, the students. I am committed to developing academic policy that works for students, by ensuring fair exam policies, introducing course wait lists and holding those in decision-making positions accountable. Make your voice count with MARK for Senator.
