Course Description

This seminar takes a thematic approach to issues and debates concerning collaboration and photography. Throughout the course, we discuss ideas by key theorists, look at projects or groups of photographs from artists and vernacular sources and tackle the social and economic ramifications of contemporary photography practices, navigating topics from social media to labour relations in dialogical art projects. We take an extended approach to photography, discussing not only images themselves, but also the contexts of production, circulation, and consumption of photographs. This seminar introduces students to key debates in photography studies and prepares and supports them in the creation and execution of their own research project in the field.

Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to:

• Understand and discuss different understandings of authorship and collaboration in art;
• Summarize and comment on scholarly articles and artistic projects in the field, both in writing and orally;
• Plan and develop a small scale photography project while articulating how it relates to scholarly writings in the field;
• Conduct research using library resources, such as books and journal articles in databases, and use the sources effectively to support your analysis of selected photography projects.

Course Requirements

All required readings, as well as any optional supplementary material, are available on OWL in the resources folder.

You are responsible for material covered in the lectures and for the readings. You are expected to have reviewed the materials in preparation for the day they are listed. Attendance and participation in all classes is mandatory. If you are absent, it is your responsibility to find out what you missed from a classmate.
Assignments

- Attendance and Participation - 10% (weekly)
  Attendance and participation in class will be monitored and make up 10% of your grade. As this is a discussion-based seminar course, it’s essential that you come to class having reviewed and made notes on the assigned materials. Arriving late to class, leaving early, not completing the required readings, and not participating in discussions and activities will significantly reduce your participation mark.

- Weekly Reading Responses - 10% (weekly - due each Sunday at 11:59pm on OWL)
  For each week with an assigned reading, write a brief (100-300 word) response on the OWL forum for that week. The responses should comment on the assigned material rather than simply summarizing it. Highlighting points of confusion, articulating questions, voicing disagreements or commenting on specific passages are all valid and welcome responses. This assignment is meant to further your interaction with the assigned material and provide a base for our in-class discussions, so it must be completed before the week’s class.

- Creative Project Presentation - 15% (March 1)
  A short presentation (approximately 10 minutes) on your proposed or in-development creative project. Students are not expected to have completed the project at this stage, but should have an idea and a rough plan for how the idea will be executed. The presentation is an opportunity to discuss ideas and methods and work through expected or encountered problems as a group.

- Creative Project - 20% (March 15)
  Students will develop a creative project that reflects on and discusses the different roles collaboration can play in photographic production, circulation, and consumption. The outcome of the project could take many forms, such as a photography-based social media profile or a collection of images. By March 15th, students should submit on OWL both the images produced (or a link, if online) and a 200-400 word written document. This accompanying text should briefly describe the project and relate it to materials and topics discussed in class. The written document and the visual outcome are worth 10% each, adding up to 20%.

  This assignment can be completed in pairs, if students so desire and can collaborate safely and in accordance with health regulations and recommendations at the time. The assignment will be further explained and discussed in class on February 22nd.

- Research Presentation - 20% (April 5)
  For your research presentation (15-20 minutes), you should present your selected artistic project or group of photographs and the sources you plan on using and outline your theoretical approach. Similarly to the creative project presentation, students are not expected to have completed their essays at this stage. You should, however, have done enough research to access the suitability and feasibility of your research project and prepare questions and points of discussion so that we can comments on your project as a group, offering suggestions and working through problems.

- Research Essay - 25% (April 11)
  For your research essay, select one artistic project or group of photographs and discuss it through the lens of the theories discussed in the course. In addition to any material introduced in the course, you essay must use additional scholarly sources gathered from your research on the topic. The essay should be 1000 to 1500 words and include footnotes and a bibliography of all sources used.

Grading

- Attendance and Participation - 10% (weekly)
- Weekly Reading Responses - 10% (weekly)

Prerequisites
You are responsible for ensuring that you have successfully completed all course prerequisites and that you have not taken an antirequisite course. Lack of prerequisites may not be used as basis of appeal. If you are not eligible for a course, you may be removed from it at any time, and you will receive no adjustment to your fees. These decisions cannot be appealed.

Plagiarism
Plagiarism, which may be defined as "The act or an instance of copying or stealing another’s words or ideas and attributing them as one’s own," will not be tolerated. (Citation excerpted from Black’s Law Dictionary, 1999, 7th ed., p. 1170). This includes presenting the visual or aural work of another creator as your own. Visual or Aural Plagiarism may involve both hand-based media such as drawing, painting, printmaking and sculpture, as well as digital media such as photography, video and sound. It includes work subsequently manipulated or transferred between different media, as well as self-plagiarism – work submitted for assignments previously produced and graded for another course. Similar to textual plagiarism, all student work involving the visual or aural work of others must be appropriately cited/identified whether in print or orally. Failure to do so will lead to similar academic penalties as those identified in Western’s Academic Calendar.

Academic Consideration
The University recognizes that a student’s ability to meet their academic responsibilities may, on occasion, be impaired by extenuating circumstances, including short-term illness or injury. Reasonable academic consideration is a cooperative process between the University, the student, and academic staff. All participants in the process must act in good faith, and fulfill their respective obligations, if it is to succeed.

Students who experience an extenuating circumstance (illness, injury, or other extenuating circumstance) sufficiently significant as to temporarily render them unable to meet academic requirements, may submit a request for academic consideration through the following routes:

(i) Submitting a Self-Reported Absence form, provided that the conditions for submission are met; or
(ii) For medical absences, submitting a Student Medical Certificate (SMC) signed by a licensed medical or mental health practitioner, in order to be eligible for Academic Consideration; or
(iii) For non-medical absences, submitting appropriate documentation (e.g., obituary, police report, accident report, court order, etc.) to Academic Counselling in their Faculty of registration, in order to be eligible for academic consideration.

Students seeking academic consideration:
- Are advised to consider carefully the implications of postponing tests or midterm exams or delaying handing in work;
- Are encouraged to make appropriate decisions, based on their specific circumstances, recognizing that minor ailments (e.g., upset stomach) or upsets (e.g., argument with a friend) are not normally an appropriate basis for a self-reported absence;
- Must communicate with their instructors no later than 24 hours after the end of the period covered by either the self-reported absence or SMC, or immediately upon their return following a documented absence;
• Are advised that all necessary documentation, forms, etc. are to be submitted to academic counselling within two business days after the date specified for resuming responsibilities

Students who experience an unexpected illness or injury or an extenuating circumstance (48 hours or less) that is sufficiently severe as to temporarily render them unable to meet academic requirements (e.g., attending lectures or labs, writing tests or midterm exams, completing and submitting assignments, participating in presentations) should self-declare using the online Self-Reported Absence portal. This option should be used in situations where the student expects to resume academic responsibilities within 48 hours or less. The following conditions are in place for self-reporting of medical or extenuating circumstances:

a. Students will be allowed a maximum of two self-reported absences between September and April, and one self-reported absence between May and August;
b. The duration of the excused absence will be for a maximum of 48 hours from the time the Self-Reported Absence form is completed through the online portal, or from 8:30 am the following morning if the form is submitted after 4:30 pm;
c. The duration of the excused absence will terminate prior to the end of the 48 hour period, should the student undertake significant academic responsibilities (e.g., write a test, submit a paper) during that time;
d. The duration of an excused absence will terminate at 8:30 am on the day following the last day of classes each semester, regardless of how many days of absence have elapsed;
e. Self-reported absences will not be allowed for scheduled final examinations; for midterm examinations scheduled during the December examination period; or for final lab examinations;
f. Self-reporting may not be used for assessments (e.g., midterm exams, tests, reports, presentations, or essays) worth more than 30% of any given course;
g. Students must be in touch with their instructors no later than 24 hours after the end of the period covered by the Self-Reported Absence form, to clarify how they will be expected to fulfill the academic expectations they may have missed.

Student Conduct:
All students will conduct themselves in a manner that will be consistent with the maturity and academic integrity expected of university students. Student conduct shall be consistent with the general laws of the community and with University regulations. Students shall show regard and respect for the rights, safety, and property of all members of the University community and are expected to act in a responsible manner within the University and the community at large. https://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/code_of_conduct.pdf
