Course description and objectives

Character wants a good job, plenty of excitement, quest, possible assistance from mentors and companions.

Students in this course will work on various aspects of a full-length fantasy novel, focusing on aspects of world-building, the use and transformation of common fantasy motifs, various ways to structure the narrative and tell the story, and how to devise the most affective and climactic scenes. We will read some secondary material (including Tolkien and others on the genre), and students will also be required to read and report on a contemporary fantasy novel of their choice as we assess what makes fantasy successful. At the conclusion of the course, students will submit a portfolio of work that includes a language or myth that underpins their created world, character sketches, an outline of their novel, and an excerpt from it.

Required texts

None.

Optional texts (each student will be required to read one of contemporary work of fantasy and report on it; this is a list of some of the possibilities)

Joe Abercrombie, The Blade Itself, Half a King, or A Little Hatred
Terry Brooks, The Sword of Shannara
Jim Butcher, Furies of Calderon
Justin T. Call, Master of Sorrows
David Eddings, Pawn of Prophecy
Jennifer Fallon, Wolfblade
Raymond Feist, Magician[: Apprentice]
Terry Goodkind, Wizard's First Rule
Robin Hobb, Assassin's Apprentice
N.K. Jemisin, The Hundred Thousand Kingdoms
Robert Jordan, The Eye of the World
Mark Lawrence, Prince of Thorns [iffy; post-apocalyptic world, but excellent otherwise]
Ursula K. Le Guin, The Wizard of Earthsea
Jane Lindskold, Through Wolf’s Eyes
Scott Lynch, The Lies of Locke Lamora
Naomi Novik, Spinning Silver
Patrick Rothfuss, The Name of the Wind
Brent Weeks, The Black Prism
Tad Williams, The Dragonbone Chair
Recommended further primary reading (secondary material below)

  [The Saga of Arrow-Odd, pp. 25-137]

Old English (in general) and Beowulf (in particular) were Tolkien’s literary inspirations for his creative work. Because The Hobbit is his earliest novel, tracing the effect of Beowulf on it is easier than in The Lord of the Rings. A thoughtful read of both is highly recommended, but I’ll talk about this in the course. Old Norse sagas are also excellent sources of ideas, characters, and mood. If you’re skeptical, try a modern translation of Beowulf instead of Liuzza:

Read the following review of Headley, and see if her work appeals to you:
https://www.npr.org/2020/08/27/906423831/bro-this-is-not-the-beowulf-you-think-you-know

Fantasy (as you know and we’ll discuss) does not have to be about unlikely heroes who go on quests in secondary worlds of magic and win treasure and love in conflicts without nuance. Contemporary novelists have immersed themselves in the genre with great success, and DeWitt and Ishiguro are two superb (and hugely different) examples of how it works.

Course Requirements and Grade Allocations

Fantastic tale construction (ungraded; due September 18)
Students will devise a brief outline of a fantastic tale. The point of the exercise is to familiarize you with some basic concepts and tools.

Critical Reading (10%; due September 25)
Students will read and summarize the salient points of one piece of secondary material (written summary handed in: maximum 500 words).

Language/myth assignment (15%; due October 9)
Students will “create” the language(s) necessary for their secondary worlds, using the linguistic principles outlined in class (maximum 1000 words).

Character Biographies (20%; due October 30)
Students will submit three character biographies (maximum 500 words each).

Book Report (15%; due November 9)
Students will present an oral report (maximum 10 minutes) on a fantasy novel (some options listed above).
Final Project (40%; due Friday, December 11)
The final project will consist of five parts: 1) a language/myth document; 2) at least three character biographies; 3) a one-page (single-spaced) synopsis of a full-length work of fantasy; 4) an explanation of how that full-length work of fantasy deploys the motifs, movements, and structures we have learned in the course; and 5) an excerpt from the work, one “great” scene (if necessary with an introduction to contextualize the scene). The length of the final part will vary, but it should be in the vicinity of at least 2500 words.

Course Policies

Assignment Format
All assignments are to be typed, and must have your name, course name, section number, and instructor’s name on the first page. Do not use a cover page; these are particularly unnecessary for online submissions. When using sources, you will be expected to follow MLA, APA, or Chicago citation practice.

Submitting Assignments
Assignments are due on the dates specified in the syllabus. Late work will be penalized at 2.5% per day unless I have permitted an extension of the due date. You must contact me ahead of time for an extension (see also the section “Accommodation Policy” below).

Attendance/Participation
This is a senior-level seminar course. I expect you to be “present” and participating, but the only penalties revolve around missing peer review. Peer review is an important part of the course. Students who do not participate in the peer review or who fail to submit drafts for peer review will receive a 10% deduction on their assignments. That could be 10% on the character biographies and then 10% more on the great scene peer review.

STUDENT CONDUCT
This ought to go without saying, but please remember, especially as we conduct our conversations remotely and asynchronously, that the use of racist or any language that works against the values of Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion will not be tolerated.

SCHOLASTIC OFFENCES, INCLUDING PLAGIARISM

The University Senate requires the following statements, and Web site references, to appear on course outlines:

“Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at the following Web site: https://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf.

Students must write their essays and assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea, or a passage of text from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major academic offence (see Scholastic Offence Policy as above).

All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com (http://www.turnitin.com)."

PREREQUISITES
The University Senate requires the following statement to appear on course outlines:

“Unless you have either the requisites for this course or written special permission from your Dean to enroll in it, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. This decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites.”

The prerequisite for this course is at least 65% in one of Writing 2101F/G, Writing 2125F/G (or the former Writing 2121F/G), Writing 2111F/G, Writing 2130F/G or Writing 2131F/G; or at least 65% in one of Writing 1000F/G, Writing 1030F/G, or Writing 1031F/G; or at least 65% in each of MIT 1020E (or both of MIT 1021F/G and MIT 1022F/G) and MIT 1025F/G; or permission of the Department (consult the Undergraduate Program Director, Writing).

ACCOMMODATION POLICY
Note: the official Western Accommodation Policy appears below. This is in effect, but may be modified temporarily by the university during the academic year as conditions change.

Students with disabilities work with Accessible Education (formerly SSD) which provides recommendations for accommodation based on medical documentation or psychological and cognitive testing. The accommodation policy can be found here: Academic Accommodation for Students with Disabilities.

Academic Consideration for Student Absence

Students will have up to two (2) opportunities during the regular academic year to use an on-line portal to self-report an absence during the term, provided the following conditions are met: the absence is no more than 48 hours in duration, and the assessment for which consideration is being sought is worth 30% or less of the student’s final grade. Students are expected to contact their instructors by email within 24 hours of the end of the period of the self-reported absence. Students are not able to use the self-reporting option in the following circumstances:

- for exams scheduled by the Office of the Registrar (e.g., December and April exams)
- absence of a duration greater than 48 hours,
- assessments worth more than 30% of the student’s final grade,
- if a student has already used the self-reporting portal twice during the academic year

If the conditions for a Self-Reported Absence are not met, students will need to provide a Student Medical Certificate if the absence is medical, or provide appropriate documentation if there are compassionate grounds for the absence in question. Students are encouraged to contact their Faculty academic counselling office to obtain more information about the relevant documentation.

Students should also note that individual instructors are not permitted to receive documentation directly from a student, whether in support of an application for consideration on medical grounds, or for other reasons. All documentation required for absences that are not covered by the Self-Reported Absence Policy must be submitted to the Academic Counselling office of a student’s Home Faculty.

For Western University policy on Consideration for Student Absence, see Policy on Academic Consideration for Student Absences - Undergraduate Students in First Entry Programs and for the Student Medical Certificate (SMC), see:

Students who are in emotional/mental distress should refer to MentalHealth@Western:
(https://www.uwo.ca/health/psych/index.html) for a complete list of options about how to obtain help.

Religious Accommodation
Students should consult the University's list of recognized religious holidays, and should give reasonable notice in writing (email), prior to the holiday, to the Instructor and an Academic Counsellor if their course requirements will be affected by a religious observance. Additional information is given in the Western Multicultural Calendar.

SPECIAL REQUESTS: SPECIAL EXAMINATIONS, INCOMPLETE STANDING, AEGROTAT STANDING
Please refer to the “Information for All Students in a Writing Course” for more detailed information. Briefly, remember that your instructor does not have the discretion to initiate, consider, or grant (or not) such requests; you must go directly to the Dean’s office of your home faculty.
